Funeral services for Edward A. Rummel, 45, Aspers R. 1, who was fatally injured Saturday morning at 10 o'clock when his car left the Arendtsville-Brysonia Rd., will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Dugan Funeral Home, Bendersville, with Rev. John H. Witmer, pastor of the Biglerville EUB Church, officiating.

Interment will be in the Greenmount Cemetery, Arendtsville. There will be no viewing.

World War II heavy truck driver in the Asiatic-Pacific theater, Rummel died of a fractured skull and internal chest and abdominal injuries. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said.

DEAD ALONG ROADWAY

State police said the accident occurred a mile north of Arendtsville on the Brysonia Rd. Rummel, who was alone in the car at the time, apparently lost control of the vehicle as it headed toward Brysonia, ran off the side of the highway and smashed into some trees. Doors of the vehicle flew open and Rummel was hurled from the auto.

Police estimated damage to the 1951 vehicle at $100 and said it was demolished.

First word of the accident came to the Quick Call Center here when two persons, apparently passing motorists, phoned, one immediately after the other, to report an injured man lying by a wrecked auto near Staub's Poultry Farm, Donald Jacobs, on duty at the Quick Call Center, dispatched the Biglerville firemen's ambulance to the scene. The ambulance attendants, on their arrival, radioed that Dr. Crist should be summoned as death had apparently occurred.

MUGGERIDGE SPEAKS HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Malcolm Muggeridge, a British journalist, will open Gettysburg College's fall lecture series at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Union building when he speaks on "English and Americans."

Known as a satirical commentator, Muggeridge is a frequent guest on television programs both here and in England. Born near London, he attended Cambridge University, where he took an honors degree at the age of 20.

His first job was as a teacher in the Egyptian University in Cairo, where he used his free time to send news stories back to England's famed newspaper, The Manchester Guardian. Returned for a two-year stint in the home office, he was assigned to the editorial page, where he displayed enthusiasm for what was then (in 1932) known as the Russian Experiment. To test his ardor, the Guardian made him their Moscow correspondent. Once in Russia, he quickly suffered a rude disillusionment: Nothing about the Communist regime or way of life was pleasing to him. He returned to England, and wrote a scathing critical book, entitled "Winter in Moscow," which was published here and widely acclaimed as a daring diatribe.

SERVED IN WAR

After a brief fling on an Indian newspaper, Muggeridge returned to write a column for the London Evening Standard. But war intervened. He joined the Intelligence Corps in 1939 as a private and emerged six years later as a major with seven decorations, including the Legion of Honor.

The war over, he went to Washington as correspondent for the Daily Telegraph, and so began his warm friendship with America and Americans. In 1953, he became editor-in-chief of Punch which had fallen on rather sorry days. Under his editorial hand Punch regained recognition and praises poured in from all over the world.

In the fall of 1957, Muggeridge resigned from Punch. Since then he has been writing for the Sunday Pictorial and the "News Statesman and Nation," traveled to the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. with Prime Minister Macmillan (as correspondent for the Daily Mirror).

Urges Using Truth Weapon Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—To combat the Communists "insidious and dangerous tactics," America must use its mightiest weapon—truth — according to former President Dwight Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, speaking on the inaugural program of the "American Security Council of the Air Sunday, said "America cannot use Communist methods" to defeat the end-justifies-the means efforts of Communists. He said America, a free-world leader, "cannot act like criminal Communists."

He added:

A. E. R. T. INFORMED

"Instead, to combat their insidious and dangerous tactics, we must first be alert and informed and then we must use truth incessantly and vigorously as our mightiest weapon to defeat them."

The former president said there is an overpowering need for a regular and sustained study of Communist tactics through a series of programs, such as the one on which he was speaking.

Eisenhower said the United States is not out to conquer any nation or take over anyone's society.

CAN BE WEAKNESS

This, he said, is one of the country's greatest strengths. "But in the fight against communism," he added, "it can at times prove to be a weakness. Americans assume that all other people will be just as fair and honest in their dealings with us as we are with them."

The American Security Council describes itself as a non-partisan nonprofit organization with 3,500 member companies and institutions. Tapes of the series is provided free to radio stations wishing to broadcast them.

BOY SWAPS DOG FOR BROTHER; PARENTS PANIC

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—Chris Coleman had a dog but wanted a little brother.

Sheree Sowden had the little brother but wanted the dog.

When one 6-year-old, with dog, met the other 6-year-old, with brother, on the beach Sunday, what was more natural than a deal?

Sheree handed her 4-year-old brother Clive to Chris. Chris handed his Irish terrier Rusty to Sheree.

An anguished search by police and parents followed along Plymouth's busy waterfront.

GO SEPARATE WAYS

Chris took his new brother wading. Sheree went walking with her new dog.

The 4-year-old soon got bored with the beach and announced he wanted to go home—to his own home, not Christopher's.

Chris dutifully took him there and stayed on to play. Sheree turned up later with Rusty to make it a foursome.

FAIR EXCHANGE

Chris' parents had called out the police. His father, antique dealer Howard Coleman, said, "We had no idea where he was and were frantic with worry. He turned up safely in the end."

"This is a business area and the boy gets lonely. He told us he thought that swapping his dog for a brother was a fair exchange."

Coleman added: "He won't be lonely much longer—he'll have a brother or sister of his own in December."

State police of the Chambersburg substation were seeking a Fairfield area resident for questioning concerning a hit-and-run accident near Blue Ridge Summit Friday night which injured two women, neither seriously.

An old model Ford bearing a temporary registration tag which had been issued to Harry J. Reese, Fairfield R. 1, was identified by police as the hit-and-run vehicle. Reese had been issued a permanent plate on Sept. 10 to replace temporary tag, police said.

Police said they would attempt to learn who was using the temporary tag Friday night.

Witnesses told police at Chambersburg that the old model Ford bearing the temporary tag failed to stop at a stop sign as it entered Route 16 at Tracey's Corner at 10:45 Friday night. In entering the intersection, the car rammed broadside into the west-bound car of Mrs. Jane Phillips, 58, of Waynesboro.

After the crash the Ford continued from the scene. A witness gave pursuit and after securing the license number abandoned the chase.

Two passengers in Mrs. Phillips' car were injured. Treated at the Waynesboro Hospital were Mrs. Albert Phillips, 88, Waynesboro, who had suffered a bruised jaw and Josephine Sherwin, 66, of Detroit, who had suffered an injury of the left shoulder.

ZOO KEEPER IS MAULED BY BULL ELK

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Jerome Leccese, 75, assistant keeper at the Nay Aug Park Zoo, was reported in critical condition today with injuries inflicted by a bull elk that went on a rampage when Leccese went into its paddock to fix a broken water pipe.

George Lowry, Jr., the zoo's director of exhibits, said "Leccese was cradled between the antlers" of the bull in Saturday's attack.

"Suddenly the bull threw him to the ground, then smashed him against a fence," Lowry said.

BLAME MATING SEASON

Lowry was injured slightly as he tried to drive the animal away from Leccese who was buffeted by the elk antlers for 10 minutes before being rescued.

Leccese, who feeds the animals every day, was admitted to Medical Center East with a crushed chest and both lungs punctured by the elk's antlers.

An animal authority said this is the mating season for elk. He said a female elk was in the paddock at the time, and the bull evidently resented Leccese's intrusion.

MAUCH SAYS PHILLIES WILL REGAIN LEAD

By LEE LINDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Can the Philadelphia Phillies come back?

"We can, and we will," says Manager Gene Mauch.

Mauch spoke in the clubhouse Sunday after the Phillies were topped out of the National League lead for the first time since July 16, and fell one game behind Cincinnati.

Milwaukee handed the Phillies their seventh straight defeat, 14-8, with a 22-hit attack. It was the Braves' fourth in a row over the Phils and marked the end of the worst home stand in recent Philadelphia history.

"NOT AS SHARP"

"Could there have ever been anything worse?" asked Mauch, trying to figure out why and how it happened.

He settled on three reasons why the Phils appeared to fall apart:

"Our players are not playing as sharp as they can play," said Mauch. "The bullpen is not as strong as it should be and we ran into the two hottest clubs in the league — Milwaukee has won something like 15 of its last 19 and Cincinnati with nine straight."

"We got to do in five days what Cincinnati took 5½ months to do," Mauch said.

TIGHT AND TENSE

"And you can bet we'll do it," He predicted the Phillies would win four of their remaining five games — and knock out Cincinnati and St. Louis, now only 1½ games behind in third.

"Maybe we're better going after something than holding on to it," said Mauch.

Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan, jubilant about the Braves' sweep, said he thought the Phillies looked tight, too tense.

This almost made Mauch smile, but the wrinkles around his mouth ran into the furrows of concern on his brow as he barked:

WORRIED ABOUT PITCHING

"Did he think we looked tight when we came back after being behind 2-0 to go ahead 3-2, and they went into the big bounce and their pop flies in the fourth and fifth. That's what killed us."

But it's the pitching that's got him worried as he must come face to face with the Cards and Reds on the season's close out on the road.

"Maybe I did a poor job of handling the pitchers," or maybe the bullpen just ran out of gas," Mauch said.

CHRIS SHORT TONIGHT

"But I don't want to criticize anyone. The bullpen had a slump before. We lost nine out of 13 right after the All-Star game and then we got going and never faltered."

"Our guys are professionals, and they want to win and they will."

Tonight, opening the St. Louis series, Mauch is going with Chris Short, his star left-hander who is 17-8 for the season. He'll follow up Tuesday with Dennis Bennett (12-13) — "and he's got one good game left" — and close up with Jim Bunning (18-7).

Short will be back Friday to open against the Reds, and "we'll clinch the flag" with Bunning on Sunday.

Mauch admits he is thinking of shaking up the line-up, probably have a serious heart-to-heart with the team "but that's between myself and the players."

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Glorious Victory In The Valley:

The Valley of the Shenandoah, heretofore our "Valley of Humiliation" has become the "Valley of Triumph." Gen. Sheridan has turned back the tide of defeat and won a victory, decisive, complete and of substantial results. The official despatches cause the heart of Union men to thrill with joy and bring sorrow and consternation to the disloyal, both north and south of the Potomac. The battle was a desperate one, the most prolonged and severe yet fought in the Valley — the Rebels were in strong force and contested the field obstinately, but the result was decisive and glorious. The enemy was whipped at all points and our supremacy in the Valley established.

The Soldiers: The testimony from the army is to the effect that the soldiers almost unanimously support Lincoln and Johnson and that they are "disgusted" with the position of McClellan. How could it be otherwise? A General in the service accepting the nomination of a Copperhead convention on a peace platform, with a peace associate and then not having manliness enough to say whether he would or would not grant the rebels the armistice to which his party pledged him. Our soldiers have reason to distrust such a man, and to fear that he would sell them to the peace party or to Jeff Davis.

For the benefit of those who cannot find the word "Copperhead" in the dictionary, we give the following analysis of it: Conspiracy, Opposition to the war, Peace on any terms, P. racy, E-nmity to the Union, R. ecognition of the "C.S.A." H. atred to the Government, E. arnest sympathy with the traitors. A-narchy, D-isloyalty.

Since Gettysburg and Vicksburg, no success has been achieved equal to that of Sheridan in the Valley. There is no danger, now, of raids upon us of the Border. Gen. Early has made his last appearance in our region of the country.

SINGLENES OF MIND

To live is something far more than the mere fact of existence. It is a combination of many things, but mainly taking things as they come, having no regrets, cultivating a love of beauty, constantly doing something useful, and walking straight forward with a singleness of mind.

Nothing is more tragic than a waste of our resources — of our ideas, our physical strength of time, our accumulated knowledge, or of our faith in ourselves.

All through life we should carry the remembrance of joys and laughter about with us. Their invisible return, from time to time, helps enormously to keep us on an even keel, with the compass showing the way directly ahead.

Singleness of mind and purpose have saved many a man from turning backward, or from an ignominious defeat. The scars in the heart, resulting from many a spiritual contest, would show — if visibly revealed — a heart made all the stronger for every scar received.

Life is altogether too short, at its longest, for any waste of effort, for any idling or for useless bickering. Too many things ahead remain to be done. Too much joy to be extracted from work, and too much to gain from each opportunity offered, to let a single day end without advancement and an inward satisfaction.

An ever ready courage is essential to guide us through each day. We never know when or where, misfortune may meet us. It is sufficient to be ready to meet whatever her demands may be. Singleness of mind is able to lead us out, far in front!

Our thoughts continually scatter to the four points of the compass, but a singleness of mind gathers the cream of them, compacting them into one forward movement of purpose. And these compacted thoughts are usually the unexpressed ones — the ones that breed at silent moments, or when the heart is at full heat!

DEAD

I saw him living and breathing and moving about us and yet he was dead to the beauty of summer and blind to the mignonette.

He was deaf to the cardinal singing up high on the tip of a tree.

For the sight and the tinkle of money was all he could hear or could see.

He ate and he drank at his dinner as one who was counting the cost;

The minutes he sat at the table were computed as dollars he'd lost;

And though there was laughter about him he never once lifted his head;

Nor beauty nor pity could rouse him; to things such as that he was dead.

I saw him living and breathing and moving about among men

Yet all that he knew was his ledgers, his red ink and black and his pen;

He saw not the stars in the heavens; he cared not when roses were red;

The world spread giant splendor about him, but he saw them no more than the dead.

EAGLES LOSE AS JIM BROWN STARS AGAIN

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cleveland Browns apparently have something else going for them besides Jimmy Brown.

The Browns had to prove it Sunday in defeating the Philadelphia Eagles 28-20. This isn't to say that Brown isn't his usual devastating self. He gained 104 yards on 25 carries, the 45th time in his pro career he's gone over 100 yards in one game.

But the Eagles held the big fullback in check when they had to. As a matter of fact, Philadelphia led 13-7 at halftime on a one-yard touchdown by Ollie Matson and two field goals by Sam Baker. The Browns scored on Ernie Green's 37-yard burst. Cleveland came out passing for the second half. Obviously instructed to take advantage of the Eagles' weak pass defense, Frank Ryan, who had 2 for 11 for 42 yards in the first half, fired 8 for 15 and three touchdowns in the final 30 minutes. It netted the Browns their second win against a tie and the lead in the National Football League's Eastern division.

Blanton Collier said of his star runner: "Brown said he wasn't bothered by the unfavorable publicity about his last week resulting from his published stand on racial matters."

NO BAD EFFECTS

"I'm for peace as much as anyone," he said. "The letters I've been receiving have been enlightening, most of them from people who were trying to explain to me that I, too, might be a little off in my thinking. I only got four letters in complete disagreement. Most people feel I have a point, but I should moderate my views... they want to help me see the light."

It was obvious the off-field furor didn't affect Brown's football. Held in reasonable restraint on the ground, he turned pass receiver in the third quarter to score the TD that sent Cleveland ahead 21-13. It was a 40-yarder into the end zone.

"The long pass pattern for me is unusual," he admitted. "We worked on the play all week. It's really a play off a play. I go out on a flair, then put on a special burst of speed. I haven't caught one that long in three seasons."

The celebrated sculpture of Queen Nefertiti (c. 1360 B.C.) was discovered in 1912 during excavations at Tell el-Amarna, Egypt. It is now in Dahleim Gallery, Berlin, Germany.

What is a fair price for the head of Nefertiti?

The sculptured head of Egyptian Queen Nefertiti is one of the world's most famous art objects. It is not for sale. But if it were, the price undoubtedly would be millions of dollars.

The monetary value of an art object such as Queen Nefertiti's head is determined simply by the desire of someone to own it. The price has no relationship to what it cost to make. What is a fair price for the head of Nefertiti? That's anybody's guess.

On the other hand, the price you pay for natural gas service is determined by known factors. It includes the actual cost of the gas and the cost of the equipment and labor necessary to bring the gas into your home.

Milwaukee Hitting Downs Phils For 7th Straight As Reds, Cards Add Victories

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

"We've got to do in five days what Cincinnati took 5½ months to do," said Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch. "And you can bet we'll do it."

"I know we've got a long week ahead but we've got the chance now," said Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler. "I don't think we're going to blow it."

Things, however, are such in the tight National League pennant struggle that either could be right or both could be wrong because Sunday's games created a three-way struggle between the Reds, the Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals.

22-HIT ATTACK

The Milwaukee Braves opened the door to first place for Cincinnati, slugging slumping Philadelphia 14-8 behind a 22-hit attack, extending the Phillies' losing streak to seven games and topping them out of the top spot for the first time since July 16.

The Reds, who last Sunday were 6½ games behind the Phillies, completed their surge to the top and took a one-game lead by sweeping a doubleheader from New York 4-1 and 3-1 while bringing their winning streak to nine games.

The third-place Cardinals, meanwhile, remained 1½ games behind by whipping Pittsburgh 5-0 for their fifth straight victory and headed home for the start of a three-game series against the Phillies tonight. The Reds are not scheduled.

MAUCH TENSE, TIRED

Mauch, who has seen the Phillies' lead completely wiped out in seven days, was tense, tired and testy in the Philadelphia dressing room. Asked about his feeling, he snapped:

"What do you care how I feel? I'm sick and tired of even hearing my own voice, especially in the last seven days."

"Maybe we just need to get away from home a little," he continued. "Maybe we're better going after something than holding on to it."

Mauch will begin to find that out tonight. Then, the Phillies move on to Cincinnati to wind up the season with a two-game series. The Reds, meanwhile, meet Pittsburgh in a three-game set starting Tuesday before tackling the Phillies.

The Cardinals, who have one more game to play than the other pennant pursuers, wind up with a three-game set at home against the Mets.

The Chicago Cubs just about ended San Francisco's pennant hopes Sunday, jolting the Giants twice 4-1 and 4-2 and dropping them 4½ games back with six left. Houston defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 12 innings in the other game.

ROBINSON AND PINSON

The Reds completed Operation Overhaul behind the hitting of Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson, grabbing the league lead for the first time since the opening week of the season.

In the first game, Robinson singled in the fourth inning, stole second, went to third on a wild throw and scored on a sacrifice fly by Deron Johnson for the first run. Then, in the eighth, he slammed a two-run double.

Pinson took over in the nightcap as the Reds struck for all their runs in the first inning, crashing a two-run triple following a single by Pete Rose and Chico Ruiz' double. Pinson then scored on a double by Johnson.

BUNNING FAILS

That proved more than enough for Joey Jay, who evened his record at 11-11 with a five-hitter. Jim O'Toole, 17-7, won the opener with relief help from Sammy Ellis in the ninth.

Lee Maye, Felipe Alou and Joe Torre were the main perpetrators of the mauling that gave the Braves a sweep of the four-game series against the Phillies and left Philadelphia without a victory in its final home stand. Not even three homers by Johnny Callison could offset the shelling.

Tony Cloninger got the victory for an 18-14 record while Jim Bunning, 18-7, took the loss.

Canners Jolt Camp Hill 25-7 For Second Blue Mountain League Triumph

Biglerville High School's surprise football outfit came up with another outstanding performance Saturday afternoon in outclassing Camp Hill 25-7 on the Lions' field for its second straight Blue Mountain victory and definitely established itself as a contender for the 1964 championship.

The Canners put together a stout defense with a fine ground attack plus a pass interception, blocked punt and recoveries of two fumbles to chalk up their second straight upset. Camp Hill, with practically an all-Senior outfit, was among the teams previously considered as having a good shot at the title.

There was no score in the first period but late in the second quarter Terry Taylor intercepted a pass by Jim Whetstone on the Biglerville 46 and, twisting and spinning from would-be tacklers,

COLTS TRAMP BEARS 52-0; WORST EVER FOR CHAMPS

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

"I've always thought we had a good offense," George Halas said last week.

But he didn't figure then on such an unbearable defense.

Actually, the Baltimore Colts had both the offense and defense Sunday — and they put it together for a 52-0 cakewalk over Halas' sluggish Chicago Bears. It was the most one-sided pounding the Bears have ever taken — and they've been around for 45 National Football League seasons.

A year ago, when the Bears' defensive unit carried them to the NFL championship, it took opponents five games to do what Johnny Unitas & Co. accomplished in one swoop. The Bears yielded 10 points a game in 1963 but the Colts had 24 on the scoreboard Sunday before the halftime gun.

HAD LOST 6 TIMES

And the Chicago attacking force, which ran up 34 points against Minnesota last week, prompting Halas to boast, "I don't care what the other people say, they'll find out we can score points," was virtually non-existent against a Colt defensive charge led by big Gino Marchetti.

Halas conceded that Baltimore had "evened it all up" after losing six straight to the Bears and scoring only a half dozen touchdowns against them. Then he summed up the Bears' performance:

"In one word, both units were stinko. They will never be back again all year — either unit."

2ND LOSS OF YEAR

Chicago's worst previous defeat was a 49-0 drubbing by Green Bay in 1962. The Bears have dropped two of three 1964 starts.

The Colts, who upset the Packers 21-20 last Sunday, climbed into Western Division title contention with a 2-1 mark. The Los Angeles Rams lead the division with a 2-0-1 record after defeating Minnesota 22-13. Green Bay, 1-1, meets Detroit, 1-0-1, tonight in another key game.

Cleveland downed Philadelphia 28-20 for a share of the Eastern lead with St. Louis, which beat San Francisco 23-13. The Browns and Cardinals are 2-0-1. Pittsburgh, 2-1, held off Dallas 23-17 in Sunday's other game and the New York Giants edged Washington 13-10 Friday night.

11 OF 13 COMPLETED

Unitas shredded Chicago's secondary, completing 11 of 13 passes for 247 yards and three touchdowns. Gary Cuozzo, Unitas' understudy, pitched for another touchdown and rookie Joe Don Looney capped the stampede with a 58-yard scoring jaunt.

The Colts' defense, which set up a 17-point second period with two interceptions and a fumble recovery, held the Bears to 60 yards rushing. Chicago didn't penetrate Baltimore territory until the closing minutes of the first half.

Rookie quarterback Bill Munson passed for one touchdown. Dick Bass ran for another and first-year placekicker Bruce Gossett booted three field goals for the Rams.

The Eagles contained Cleveland's Jimmy Brown in the first half and took a 13-7 lead but Frank Ryan flipped three scoring passes in the second half to rally the Browns.

For the second straight week the passing combination of Jim Ward to Ken Snyder has put the Gettysburg College football team in the win column, this time against the favored Bisons of Bucknell. The Bullets came from behind to set the Bisons back to the tune of 12-7 Saturday afternoon in Lewisburg before 6,500 fans in a Middle Atlantic Conference university division tilt.

It also marked the second straight week that Gettysburg's big three-deep line also played an important part. In winning their second straight contest in as many outings, the Bullets also added another "magic six" to their record. This time it marked the first time in six years a Gettysburg team has been able to beat a Bucknell squad. The last Gettysburg decision came in 1958 on a 6-0 win in the Hershey Stadium.

Gettysburg's running game proved to be a valuable asset throughout the contest. Gene Haas, head coach, stated that his team took to the ground earlier than expected. The reason for this was because the Bison defense was spreading out to stop the passing and so Tony Presogna, Rod Albright and Ward took advantage of the situation. Presogna ran 16 times for 58 yards, Albright eight times for 21 yards and Ward rolled up 15 yards on 12 carries.

HERD SCORES EARLY

Bucknell looked as if it might keep the Bullets well in hand as it rifled across the goal line at the 6:36 mark of the initial period. Following a Gettysburg punt, the Bisons took over on their own 29 and marched the entire 71 yards in 10 plays with senior halfback Bob Laughton bouncing off left tackle for the final one yard. Al Seigfried booted the placement.

The Bullets started a little slow in the first quarter as they got their hands on the ball for only nine plays, including two punts. The defense bogged slightly when obvious open field tackles were missed and Bucknell was able to pick up an additional yard or two. The period ended with the host school maintaining its 7-0 margin.

The tide turned in the remaining three quarters as Gettysburg completely dominated offensive play. On the last play of the first stanza, Gettysburg gained possession of the ball on its 36 when Tom Wuerstle intercepted a Bob Marks aerial. The Bullets then marched 64 yards for its first score of the game with 4:35 gone by in the frame. During the drive, Ward tossed but two passes while Presogna and Albright accounted for 42 yards of the drive. The climax came when Ken Snyder circled perfectly behind the defensive secondary in the end zone and pulled in Ward's seven-yard flip. Bob Kinsey's placement attempt was wide to the left.

The remainder of the second period play took place in Bucknell territory with the deepest Gettysburg penetration being to the Bison 35. However, Bucknell still held the slim 7-6 margin at intermission.

Twice in the third quarter Gettytsburg moved to within scoring position, but both times were halted. The first drive carried the Bullets to the Bucknell 33, but Ward fumbled an attempted pass and end Tom Mitchell recovered for the Bisons. Midway through the frame, Gettysburg drove to the Bucknell 17 and this time Ward fumbled a handoff and tackle Bob Brown recovered for Bucknell. The final quarter looked as if it might be a repeat of the third for Haas' team. The Bullets again drove the length of the field from its 10 to the Bucknell 18. This time Kinsey attempted a field goal, while standing on the 24, but it missed as it rocketed to the left.

The Bullets finally gained possession of the ball on their own 38 following a Bucknell punt. This time the Orange and Blue started a drive which eventually gained the decision for them. It took 11 plays to march the 62 yards and Ward climaxed it again with a perfect pass to flanker Snyder up the middle for the last six yards of the drive. This time Ward's toss for the conversion was too deep.

Bucknell put on a desperation drive late in the game and carried the ball from its 20 to the Gettysburg 34. However, on a second and 10 situation with just one minute to go, Snyder intercepted a Marks' pass on the Gettysburg eight and the gate was closed on the Bisons.

Snyder finished the game catching six aeriels for 122 yards and two touchdowns. Ward completed 11 for 22 for 136 yards. Don Cook paced the Bison running game with 52 yards on five carries and Marks, the Sophomore flash playing his first collegiate game, hit on nine of 24 passes for 97 yards. Gettysburg rolled up a 322-yard total offense compared to Bucknell's 181.

Delone Scores Four Ways In Defeating Waynesboro 12-0 For Second Victory

Delone Catholic High scored in every way possible in defeating Waynesboro 12-0 on the latter's field for its second straight triumph Saturday afternoon. The Squires, now 2-1, tallied a touchdown, field goal, safety, and point after touchdown.

Late in the first period Delone secured possession of the ball on the Waynesboro 38 via a punt by Greg Mason. An off-sides penalty and a fumble cost the Squires yardage to open the second quarter. On the third play Ray Timmins broke through left tackle on a draw play and streaked 44 yards for the touchdown. Phil Staub added the point on a placement.

There was no further scoring in the half but Ted Elliott halted a mild Waynesboro threat by punting on Jon Dennis' fumble to give Delone possession on its 33.

In the third frame Delone continued to dominate play against their heavier opponents. Near the end of the period the Squires gained possession on their 45 via a punt. George Emig raced to the Waynesboro 25 but a clipping penalty set the Squires back to the Waynesboro 37. Dave Knox hit the line for five yards and Henry Reese got 12 at right end for a first down on the 30. The drive broke down and Timmins kicked to the Waynesboro 5 as the period ended.

STAUB KICKS GOAL

Mason soon kicked out to the 35. Reese passed to Knox for a first down on the 23. Timmins and Elliott ran for another first down on the nine. Three plays netted but five yards and then Staub dropped back to the 16 and booted a perfect placement to make the score 10-0.

Late in the game Timmins got off a beautiful 40-yard boot to the Waynesboro 2 to set the stage for the safety.

An Indian pass was incomplete and then Al Spottswood picked up four yards. On the next play Matt McLaughlin attempted to swing wide on a pitchout but was nailed in the end zone by Lee Linch for

Warren Commission Rules No Conspiracy Involved In Assassination Of Former President John Fitzgerald Kennedy By Lee Harvey Oswald

Assassination Of Kennedy Called A Cruel, Shocking Act Of Violence Directed Against A Man, A Family, Nation And All Mankind

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Following is the text of the summary and conclusions in the report of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy:

Summary, Conclusion

The assassination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy on November 22, 1963, was a cruel and shocking act of violence directed against a man, a family, a nation, and against all mankind. A young and vigorous leader whose years of public and private life stretched before him was the victim of the fourth Presidential assassination in the history of a country dedicated to the concepts of reasoned argument and peaceful political change. This Commission was created on November 29, 1963, in recognition of the right of people everywhere to full and truthful knowledge concerning these events. This report endeavors to fulfill that right and to appraise this tragedy by the light of reason and the standard of fairness. It has been prepared with a deep awareness of the Commission's responsibility to present to the American people an objective report of the facts relating to the assassination.

Narrative Of Events

At 11:40 a.m., C.S.T., on Friday, November 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy, and their party arrived at Love Field, Dallas, Tex. Behind them was the first day of a Texas trip planned 5 months before by the President, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and John B. Connally Jr., Governor of Texas. After leaving the White House on Thursday morning, the President had flown initially to San Antonio where Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson joined the party and the President dedicated new research facilities at the U.S. Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine. Following a testimonial dinner in Houston for U.S. Representative Albert Thomas, the President flew to Fort Worth where he spent the night and spoke at a large breakfast gathering on Friday.

Plans Of Day

Planned for later that day were a motorcade through downtown Dallas, a luncheon speech at the Trade Mart, and a flight to Austin where the President would attend a reception and speak at a Democratic fund-raising dinner. From Austin he would proceed to the Texas ranch of the Vice President. Evident on this trip were the varied roles which an American President performs — Head of State, Chief Executive, party leader, and, in this instance, prospective candidate for re-election.

The Dallas motorcade, it was hoped, would evoke a demonstration of the President's personal popularity in a city which he had lost in the 1960 election. Once it had been decided that the trip to Texas would span 2 days, those responsible for planning, primarily Governor Connally and Kenneth O'Donnell, a special assistant to the President, agreed that a motorcade through Dallas would be desirable. The Secret Service was told on November 8 that 45 minutes had been allotted to a motorcade procession from Love Field to the site of a luncheon planned by Dallas business and civic leaders in honor of the President. After considering the facilities and security problems of several buildings, the Trade Mart was chosen as the luncheon site. Given this selection, and in accordance with the customary practice of affording the greatest number of people an opportunity to see the President, the motorcade route selected was a natural one. The route was approved by the local host committee and White House representatives on November 18 and publicized in the local papers starting on November 19. This advance publicity made it clear that the motorcade would leave Main Street and pass the intersection of Elm and Houston Streets as it proceeded to the Trade Mart by way of the Stemmons Freeway.

By midmorning of November 22, clearing skies in Dallas dispelled the threat of rain and the President greeted the crowds from his open limousine without the "bubbletop" which was at that time a plastic shield furnishing protection only against inclement weather. To the left of the President in the rear seat was Mrs. Kennedy. In the jump seats were Governor Connally, who was in front of the President, and Mrs. Connally at the Governor's left. Agent William R. Greer of the Secret Service was driving, and Agent Roy H. Kellerman was sitting to his right.

Followup Car

Directly behind the Presidential limousine was an open "followup" car with eight Secret Service agents, two in the front seat, two in the rear, and two on each running board. These agents, in accordance with normal Secret Service procedures, were instructed to scan the crowds, the roofs, and windows of buildings, overpasses, and crossings for signs of trouble. Behind the "followup" car was the Vice-Presidential car carrying the Vice President and Mrs. Johnson and Senator Ralph W. Yarborough. Next were a Vice-Presidential "followup" car and several cars and buses for additional dignitaries, press representatives, and others.

The motorcade left Love Field shortly after 11:50 a.m., and proceeded through residential neighborhoods, stopping twice at the President's request to greet well-wishers among the friendly crowds. Each time the President's car halted, Secret Service agents from the "followup" car moved to assume a protective stance near the President and Mrs. Kennedy. As the motorcade reached Main Street, a principal east-west artery in downtown Dallas, the welcome became tumultuous.

It Was 12:30 P.M.

At the extreme west end of Main Street the motorcade turned right on Houston Street and proceeded north for one block in order to make a left turn on Elm Street, the most direct and convenient approach to the Stemmons Freeway and the Trade Mart. As the President's car approached the intersection of Houston and Elm Streets, there loomed directly ahead on the intersection's northwest corner a seven-story, orange brick warehouse and office building, the Texas School Book Depository. Riding in the Vice President's car, Agent Rufus W. Youngblood of the Secret Service noticed that the clock atop the building indicated 12:30 p.m., the scheduled arrival time at the Trade Mart.

Makes Sharp Turn

The President's car which had been going north made a sharp turn toward the southwest onto Elm Street. At a speed of about 11 miles per hour, it started down the gradual descent toward a railroad overpass under which the motorcade would proceed before reaching the Stemmons Freeway. The front of the Texas School Book Depository was now on the President's right, and he waved to the crowd assembled there as he passed the building. Dealey Plaza — an open, landscaped area marking the western end of downtown Dallas — stretched out to the President's left. A Secret Service agent riding in the motorcade radioed the Trade Mart that the President would arrive in 5 minutes.

Three Rapid Shots

Seconds later shots resounded in rapid succession. The President's hands moved to his neck. He appeared to stiffen momentarily and lurch slightly forward in his seat. A bullet had entered the base of the back of his neck slightly to the right of the spine. It traveled downward and exited from the front of the neck, causing a nick in the left lower portion of the knot in the President's necktie. Before the shooting started, Governor Connally had been facing toward the crowd on the right. He started to turn toward the left and suddenly felt a blow on his back. The Governor had been hit by a bullet which entered at the extreme right side of his back at a point below his right armpit. The bullet traveled through his chest in a downward and forward direction, exited below his right nipple, passed through his right wrist which had been in his lap, and then caused a wound to his left thigh. The force of the bullet's impact appeared to spin the Governor to his right, and Mrs. Connally pulled him down into her lap. Another bullet then struck President Kennedy in the rear portion of his head, causing a massive and fatal wound. The President fell to the left into Mrs. Kennedy's lap.

Sees JFK Slump

Secret Service Agent Clinton J. Hill, riding on the left running board of the "followup" car, heard a noise which sounded like a firecracker and saw the President suddenly lean forward and to the left. Hill jumped off the car and raced toward the President's limousine. In the front seat of the Vice-Presidential car, Agent Youngblood heard an explosion and noticed unusual movements in the crowd. He vaulted into the rear seat and sat on the Vice President in order to protect him. At the same time Agent Kellerman in the front seat of the Presidential limousine turned to observe the President.

Race To Hospital

Seeing that the President was struck, Kellerman instructed the driver, "Let's get out of here; we are hit." He radioed ahead to the lead car, "Get us to the hospital immediately." Agent Greer immediately accelerated the Presidential car. As it gained speed, Agent Hill managed to pull himself onto the back of the car where Mrs. Kennedy had climbed. Hill pushed her back into the rear seat and shielded the stricken President and Mrs. Kennedy as the President's car proceeded at high speed to Parkland Memorial Hospital, 4 miles away.

Had Heartbeat

At Parkland, the President was immediately treated by a team of physicians who had been alerted for the President's arrival by the Dallas Police Department as the result of a radio message from the motorcade after the shooting. The doctors noted irregular breathing movements and a possible heartbeat, although they could not detect a pulse. They observed the extensive wound in the President's head and a small wound approximately one-fourth inch in diameter in the lower third of his neck. In an effort to facilitate breathing, the physicians performed a tracheotomy by enlarging the throat wound and inserting a tube. Totally absorbed in the immediate task of trying to preserve the President's life, the attending doctors never turned the President over for an examination of his back. At 1 p.m., after all heart activities ceased and the Last Rites were administered by a priest, President Kennedy was pronounced dead. Governor Connally underwent surgery and ultimately recovered from his serious wounds.

Guard Johnson

Upon learning of the President's death, Vice President Johnson left Parkland Hospital under close guard and proceeded to the Presidential plane at Love Field. Mrs. Kennedy, accompanying her husband's body, boarded the plane shortly thereafter. At 2:38 p.m., in the central compartment of the plane, Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States by Federal District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes. The plane left immediately for Washington, D.C., arriving at Andrews AFB, Md., at 5:58 p.m. e.s.t. The President's body was taken to the National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md., where it was given a complete pathological examination. The autopsy disclosed the large head wound observed at Parkland and the wound in the front of the neck which had been enlarged by the Parkland doctors when they performed the tracheotomy. Both of these wounds were described in the autopsy report as being "presumably of exit." In addition the autopsy revealed a small wound of entry in the rear of the President's skull and another wound of entry near the base of the back of the neck. The autopsy report stated the cause of death as "Gunshot wound, head," and the bullets which struck the President were described as having been fired "from a point behind and somewhat above the level of the chest."

Much Confusion

At the scene of the shooting, there was evident confusion at the outset concerning the point of origin of the shots. Witnesses differed in their accounts of the direction from which the sound of the shots emanated. Within a few minutes, however, attention centered on the Texas School Book Depository Building as the source of the shots. The building was occupied by a private corporation, the Texas School Book Depository Co., which distributed school textbooks of several publishers and leased space to representatives of the publishers. Most of the employees in the building worked for these publishers. The balance, including a 15-man warehousing crew, were employees of the Texas

Saw Rifle Fired

Several eyewitnesses in front of the building reported that they saw a rifle being fired from the southeast corner window on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository. One eyewitness, Howard L. Brennan, had been watching the parade from a point on Elm Street directly opposite and facing the building. He promptly told a policeman that he had seen a slender man, about 5 feet 10 inches, in his early thirties, take deliberate aim from the sixth-floor corner window and fire a rifle in the direction of the President's car. Brennan thought he might be able to identify the man since he had noticed him in the window a few minutes before the motorcade made the turn onto Elm Street. At 12:34 p.m., the Dallas police radio mentioned the Depository Building as a possible source of the shots, and at 12:45 p.m., the police radio broadcast a description of the suspected assassin based primarily on Brennan's observations.

Sure Of Rifle

When the shots were fired, a Dallas motorcycle patrolman, Marrion L. Baker, was riding in the motorcade at a point several cars behind the President. He had turned right from Main Street onto Houston Street and was about 200 feet south of Elm Street when he heard a shot. Baker, having recently returned from a week of deer hunting, was certain the shot came from a high-powered rifle. He looked up and saw pigeons scattering in the air from their perches on the Texas School Book Depository Building. He raced his motorcycle to the building, dismounted, scanned the area to the west and pushed his way rushed to the door and saw a man about 20 feet away walking toward the other end of the lunchroom. The man was empty-handed. At Baker's command, the man turned and approached him. Truly, who had started up the stairs to the third floor ahead of Baker, returned to see what had delayed the patrolman. Baker asked Truly whether he knew the man in the lunchroom. Truly replied that the man worked in the building, whereupon Baker turned from Truly, up the stairs. The man they encountered had started working in the Texas School Book Depository Building on October 16, 1963. His fellow workers described him as very quiet — a "loner." His name was Lee Harvey Oswald.

Second Shooting

Approximately 14 minutes later, and just 45 minutes after the assassination, another violent shooting occurred in Dallas. The victim was Patrolman J. D. Tippit of the Dallas police, an officer with a good record during his more than 11 years with the police force. He was shot near the intersection of 10th Street and Patton Avenue, about nine-tenths of a mile from Oswald's rooming house. At the time of the assassination, Tippit was alone in his patrol car, the routine practice for most police patrol cars at this time of day. He had been ordered by radio at 12:45 p.m. to proceed to the central Oak Cliff area as part of a concentration of patrol car activity around the center of the city following the assassination. At 12:54 Tippit radioed that he had moved as directed and would be available for any emergency. By this time the police radio had broadcast several messages alerting the police to the suspect described by Brennan at the scene of the assassination — a slender white male, about 30 years old, 5 feet 10 inches and weighing about 165 pounds.

Had Coke Bottle

Within about 1 minute after his encounter with Baker and Truly, Oswald was seen passing through the second-floor offices. In his hand was a full "Coke" bottle which he had purchased from a vending machine in the lunchroom. He was walking toward the front of the building where a passenger elevator and a short flight of stairs provided access to the main entrance of the building on the first floor. Approximately 7 minutes later, at about 12:40 p.m., Oswald boarded a bus at a point on Elm Street seven short blocks east of the Depository Building. The bus was traveling west toward the very building from which Oswald had come. Its route lay through the Oak Cliff section in southwest Dallas, where it would pass seven blocks east of the rooming house in which Oswald was living, at 1026 North Beckley Avenue. On the bus were Mrs. Mary Bledsoe, one of Oswald's former landladies who immediately recognized him. Oswald stayed on the bus ap-jacket and rushed out of the house.

Saw Both Men

As the gunman left the scene, he walked hurriedly back toward Patton Avenue and turned left, heading south. Standing on the northwest corner of 10th Street and Patton Avenue was Helen Markham, who had been walking south on Patton Avenue and had seen both the killer and Tippit cross the intersection in front of her as she waited on the curb for traffic to pass. She witnessed the shooting and then saw the man with a gun in his hand walk back toward the corner and cut across the lawn of the corner house as he started south on Patton Avenue.

In the corner house itself, Mrs. Barbara Jeanette Davis and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Davis, heard the shots and rushed to the door in time to see the man walk rapidly across the lawn shaking a revolver as if he were emptying it of cartridge cases. Later that day each woman found a cartridge case near the house. As the gunman turned the corner he passed alongside a taxicab which was parked on Patton Avenue, a few feet from 10th Street. The driver, William W. Scoggins, had seen the slaying and was now crouched behind his cab on the street side. As the gunman cut through the shrubbery on the lawn, Scoggins looked up and saw the man approximately 12 feet away. In his hand was a pistol and he muttered words which sounded to Scoggins like "poor dumb cop" or "poor damn cop."

Tippit Is Shot

At approximately 1:15 p.m., Tippit was driving slowly in an easterly direction on East 10th Street in Oak Cliff. About 100 feet past the intersection of 10th Street and Patton Avenue, Tippit pulled up alongside a man walking in the same direction. The man met the general description of the suspect wanted in connection with the assassination. He walked over to Tippit's car, rested his arms on the door on the right-hand side of the car, and apparently exchanged words with Tippit through the

Heard Shots

After passing Scoggins, the gunman crossed to the west side of Patton Avenue and ran south toward Jefferson Boulevard, a main Oak Cliff thoroughfare. On the east side of Patton, between 10th Street and Jefferson Boulevard, Ted Callaway, a used car salesman, heard the shots and ran to the sidewalk. As the man with the gun rushed past, Callaway shouted "What's going on?" The man merely shrugged, ran on to Jefferson Boulevard and turned right. On the next corner was a gas station with a parking lot in the rear. The assailant ran into the lot, discarded his jacket and then continued his flight west on Jefferson.

Heard Siren

In a shoe store a few blocks farther west on Jefferson, the manager, Johnny Calvin Brewer, heard the siren of a police car moments after the radio in his store announced the shooting of the police officer in Oak Cliff. Brewer saw a man step quickly into the entranceway of the store and stand there with his back toward the street. When the police car made a U-turn and headed back in the direction of the Tippit shooting, the man left and Brewer followed him. He saw the man enter the Texas Theatre, a motion picture house about 60 feet away, without buying a ticket. Brewer pointed this out to the cashier, Mrs. Julia Postal, who called the police. The time was shortly after 1:40 p.m.

Goes To Theatre

At 1:29 p.m., the police radio had noted the similarity in the descriptions of the suspects in the Tippit shooting and the assassination. At 1:45 p.m., in response to Mrs. Postal's call, the police radio sounded the alarm: "Have information a suspect just went in the Texas Theatre on West Jefferson." Within minutes the theater was surrounded. The house lights were then turned up. Patrolman M. N. McDonald and several other policemen approached the man, who had been pointed out to them by Brewer. McDonald ordered the man to his feet and heard him say, "Well, it's all over now." The man drew a gun from his waist with one hand and struck the officer with the other. McDonald struck out with his right hand and grabbed the gun with his left hand. After a brief struggle McDonald and several other police officers disarmed and handcuffed the suspect and drove him to police headquarters, arriving at approximately 2 p.m.

Rush To Scene

Following the assassination, police cars had rushed to the Texas School Book Depository in response to the many radio messages reporting that the shots had been fired from the Depository Building. Inspector J. Herbert Sawyer of the Dallas Police Department arrived at the scene shortly after hearing the first of these police radio messages at 12:34 p.m. Some of the officers who had been assigned to the area of Elm and Houston Streets for the motorcade were talking to witnesses and watching the building when Sawyer arrived. Sawyer entered the building and rode a passenger elevator to the fourth floor, which was the top floor for this elevator. He conducted a quick search, returned to the main floor and, between approximately 12:37 and 12:40 p.m., ordered that no one be permitted to leave the building.

Finds Cartridges

Shortly before 1 p.m. Capt. J. Will Fritz, chief of the homicide and robbery bureau of the Dallas Police Department, arrived to take charge of the investigation. Searching the sixth floor, Deputy Sheriff Luke Mooney noticed a pile of cartons in the southeast corner. He squeezed through the boxes and realized immediately that he had discovered the point from which the shots had been fired. On the floor were three empty cartridge cases. A carton had apparently been placed on the floor at the side of the window so that a person sitting on the carton could look down Elm Street toward the overpass and scarcely be noticed from the outside. Between this carton and the half-open window were three additional cartons arranged at such an angle that a rifle resting on the top carton would be aimed directly at the motorcade as it moved away from the building. The high stack of boxes, which first attracted Mooney's attention, effectively screened a person at the window from the view of anyone else on the floor.

Rifle Is Found

Mooney's discovery intensified the search for additional evidence on the sixth floor, and at 1:22 p.m., approximately 10 minutes after the cartridge cases were found, Deputy Sheriff Eugene Boone turned his flashlight in the direction of two rows of boxes in the northwest corner near the staircase. Stuffed between the two rows was a bolt-action rifle with a telescopic sight. The rifle was not touched until it could be photographed. When Lt. J. C. Day of the police investigation bureau decided that the wooden stock and the metal knob at the end of the bolt contained no prints, he held the rifle by the stock while Captain Fritz ejected a live shell by operating the bolt. Lieutenant Day promptly noted that stamped on the rifle itself was the serial number "C2766" as well as the markings "1940" "MADE ITALY" and "CAL. 6.5." The rifle was about 40 inches long and when disassembled it could fit into a hand-made paper sack which, after the assassination, was found in the southeast corner of the building within a few feet of the cartridge cases.

Oswald Missing

As Fritz and Day were completing their examination of this rifle on the sixth floor, Roy Truly, the building superintendent, approached with information which he felt should be brought to the attention of the police. Earlier, while the police were questioning the employees, Truly had observed that Lee Harvey Oswald, 1 of the 15 men who worked in the warehouse, was missing. After Truly provided Oswald's name, address, and general description, Fritz left for police headquarters. He arrived at headquarters shortly after 2 p.m., and asked two detectives to pick up the employee who was missing from the Texas School Book Depository. Standing nearby were the police officers who had just arrived with the man arrested in the Texas Theatre. When Fritz mentioned the name of the missing employee, he learned that the man was already in the interrogation room. The missing School Book Depository employee and the suspect who had been apprehended in the Texas Theatre were one and the same — Lee Harvey Oswald.

The suspect Fritz was about through the spectators toward the entrance. There he encountered Roy Truly, the building superintendent, who offered Baker his help. They entered the building, and ran toward the two elevators in the rear. Finding that both elevators were on an upper floor, they dashed up the stairs. Not more than 2 minutes had elapsed since the shooting.

Saw Man Walking

When they reached the second-floor landing on their way up to the top of the building, Patrolman Baker thought he caught a glimpse of someone through the small glass window in the door separating the hall area near the stairs from the small vestibule leading into the lunchroom. Gun in hand, he proximately 3 or 4 minutes, during which time it proceeded only two blocks because of the traffic jam created by the motorcade and the assassination. Oswald then left the bus.

Enters Taxi

A few minutes later he entered a vacant taxi four blocks away and asked the driver to take him to a point on North Beckley Avenue several blocks beyond his rooming house. The trip required 5 or 6 minutes. At about 1 p.m. Oswald arrived at the rooming house. The housekeeper, Mrs. Earlene Roberts, was surprised to see Oswald at midday and remarked to him that he seemed to be in quite a hurry. He made no reply. A few minutes later Oswald emerged from his room zipping up his window. Tippit opened the door on the left side and started to walk around the front of his car. As he reached the front wheel on the driver's side, the man on the sidewalk drew a revolver and fired several shots in rapid succession, hitting Tippit four times and killing him instantly. An automobile repairman, Domingo Benavides, heard the shots and stopped his pickup truck on the opposite side of the street about 25 feet in front of Tippit's car. He observed the gunman start back toward Patton Avenue, removing the empty cartridge cases from the gun as he went. Benavides rushed to Tippit's side. The patrolman, apparently dead, was lying on his revolver, which was out of its holster. Benavides promptly reported the shooting to police headquarters over the radio in to question in connection with the assassination of the President and the murder of a policeman was born in New Orleans on October 18, 1939, 2 months after the death of his father. His mother, Marguerite Claverie Oswald, had two older children. One, John Pic, was a half-brother to Lee from an earlier marriage which had ended in divorce. The other was Robert Oswald, a full brother to Lee and 5 years older. When Lee Oswald was 3, Mrs. Oswald placed him in an orphanage where his brother and half-brother were already living, primarily because she had to work.

Leaves Orphanage

In January 1944, when Lee was 4, he was taken out of the orphanage, and shortly thereafter his mother moved with him to Dallas, Tex., where the older boys joined them at the end of the school year. In May of 1945 Marguerite Oswald married her third husband, Edwin A. Ekdahl. While the two older boys attended a military boarding school, Lee lived at home and developed a warm attachment to Ekdahl, occasionally accompanying his mother and stepfather on business trips around the country. Lee started school in Benbrook, Tex., but in the fall of 1946, after a separation from Ekdahl, Marguerite Oswald re-entered Lee in the first grade in Covington, La.

Move To Texas

In January 1947, while Lee was still in the first grade, the family moved to Fort Worth, Tex., as the result of an attempted reconciliation between Ekdahl and Lee's mother. A year and a half later, before Lee was 9, his mother was divorced from her third husband as the result of a divorce action instituted by Ekdahl. Lee's school record during the next 5½ years in Fort Worth was average, although generally it grew poorer each year. The comments of teachers and others who knew him at that time do not reveal any unusual personality traits or characteristics.

Move To N.Y.C.

Another change for Lee Oswald occurred in August 1952, a few months after he completed the sixth grade. Marguerite Oswald and her 12-year-old son moved to New York City where Marguerite's oldest son, John Pic, was stationed with the Coast Guard. The ensuing year and one-half in New York was marked by Lee's refusals to attend school and by emotional and psychological problems of a seemingly serious nature. Because he had become a chronic school truant, Lee underwent psychiatric study at Youth House, an institution in New York for juveniles who have had truancy problems or difficulties with the law, and who appear to require psychiatric observation, or other types of guidance. The social worker assigned to his case described him as "seriously detached" and "withdrawn" and noted "a rather pleasant, appealing quality about this emotionally starved, affectionless youngster."

Called "Burden"

Lee expressed the feeling to the social worker that his mother did not care for him and regarded him as a burden. He experienced fantasies about being all powerful and hurting people, but during his stay at Youth House he was apparently not a behavior problem. He appeared withdrawn and evasive, a boy who preferred to spend his time alone, reading and watching television. His tests indicated that he was above average in intelligence for his age group. The chief psychiatrist of Youth House diagnosed Lee's problem as a "personality pattern disturbance with schizoid features and passive-aggressive tendencies." He concluded that the boy was "an emotionally, quite disturbed youngster" and recommended psychiatric treatment.

Resumes Schools

In May 1953, after having been at Youth House for 3 weeks, Lee Oswald returned to school where his attendance and grades temporarily improved. By the following fall, however, the probation officer reported that virtually every teacher complained about the boy's behavior. His mother insisted that he did not need psychiatric assistance. Although there was apparently some improvement in Lee's behavior during the next few months, the court recommended further treatment. In January 1954, while Lee's case was still pending, Marguerite and Lee left for New Orleans, the city of Lee's birth.

Mediocre Grades

Upon his return to New Orleans, Lee maintained mediocre grades but had no obvious behavior problems. Neighbors and others who knew him outside of school remembered him as a quiet, solitary and introverted boy who read a great deal and whose vocabulary made him quite articulate. About 1 month after he started the 10th grade and 11 days before his 16th birthday in October 1955, he brought to school a note purportedly written by his mother, stating that the family was moving to California. The note was written by Lee. A few days later he dropped out of school and almost immediately tried to join the Marine Corps. Because he was only 16, he was rejected.

Did Odd Jobs

After leaving school Lee worked for the next 10 months at several jobs in New Orleans as an office messenger or clerk. It was during this period that he started to read communist literature. Occasionally, in conversations with others, he praised communism and expressed to his fellow employees a desire to join the Communist Party. At about this time, when he was not yet 17, he wrote to the Socialist Party of America, professing his belief in Marxism.

Another move followed in July 1956 when Lee and his mother returned to Fort Worth. He re-entered high school but again dropped out after a few weeks and enlisted in the Marine Corps on October 24, 1956, 6 days after his 17th birthday. On December 21, 1956, during boot camp in San Diego, Oswald fired a score of 212 for record with the M-1 rifle — 2 points over the minimum for a rating of "sharpshooter" on a marksman-sharpshooter-expert scale. After his basic training, Oswald received training in aviation fundamentals and then in radar scanning.

Was A "Loner"

Most people who knew Oswald in the Marines described him as a "loner" who resented the exercise of authority by others. He spent much of his free time reading. He was court-martialed once for possessing an unregistered privately owned weapon and, on another occasion, for using provocative language to a noncommissioned officer. He was, however, generally able to comply with Marine discipline, even though his experiences in the Marine Corps did not live up to his expectations.

Served Overseas

Oswald served 15 months overseas until November 1958, most of it in Japan. During his final year in the Marine Corps he was stationed for the most part in Santa Ana, Calif., where he showed a marked interest in the Soviet Union and sometimes expressed politically radical views with dogmatic conviction. Oswald again fired the M-1 rifle for record on May 6, 1959, and this time he shot a score of 191 on a shorter course than before, only 1 point over the minimum required to be a "marksman." According to one of his fellow marines, Oswald was not particularly interested in his rifle performance, and his unit was not expected to exhibit the usual rifle proficiency. During this period he expressed strong admiration for Fidel Castro and an interest in joining the Cuban army. He tried to impress those around him as an intellectual, but his thinking appeared to some as shallow and rigid.

Leaves Service

Oswald's Marine service terminated on September 11, 1959, when at his own request he was released from active service a few months ahead of his scheduled release. He offered as the reason for his release the ill health and economic plight of his mother. He returned to Fort Worth, remained with his mother only 3 days and left for New Orleans, telling his mother he planned to get work there in the shipping or import-export business. In New Orleans he booked passage on the freighter SS Marion Lykes, which sailed from New Orleans to Le Havre, France, on September 20, 1959.

Planned Move

Lee Harvey Oswald had presumably planned this step in his life for quite some time. In March of 1959 he had applied to the Albert Schweitzer College in Switzerland for admission to the spring 1960 term. His letter of application contained many blatant falsehoods concerning his qualifications and background. A few weeks before his discharge he had applied for and obtained a passport, listing the Soviet Union as one of the countries which he planned to visit. During his service in the Marines he had saved a comparatively large sum of money, possibly as much as $1,500, which would appear to have been accomplished by considerable frugality and apparently for a specific purpose.

Goes To Moscow

The purpose of the accumulated fund soon became known. On October 16, 1959, Oswald arrived in Moscow by train after crossing the border from Finland, where he had secured a visa for a 6-day stay in the Soviet Union. He immediately applied for Soviet citizenship. On the afternoon of October 21, 1959, Oswald was ordered to leave the Soviet Union by 8 p.m. that evening. That same afternoon in his hotel room Oswald, in an apparent suicide attempt, slashed his left wrist. He was hospitalized immediately. On October 31, 3 days after his release from the hospital, Oswald appeared at the American Embassy, announced that he wished to renounce his U.S. citizenship and become a Russian citizen, and handed the Embassy officer a written statement he had prepared for the occasion. When asked his reasons, Oswald replied, "I am a Marxist." Oswald never formally complied with the legal steps necessary to renounce his American citizenship. The Soviet Government did not grant his request for citizenship, but in January 1960 he was given permission to remain in the Soviet Union on a year-to-year basis. At the same time Oswald was sent to Minsk where he worked in a radio factory as an unskilled laborer. In January 1961 his permission to remain in the Soviet Union was extended for another year. A few weeks later, in February 1961, he wrote to the American Embassy in Moscow expressing a desire to return to the United States.

Marries Russian

The following month Oswald met a 19-year-old Russian girl, Marina Nikolaevna Prusakova, a pharmacist, who had been brought up in Leningrad but was then living with an aunt and uncle in Minsk. They were married on April 30, 1961. Throughout the following year he carried on a correspondence with American and Soviet authorities seeking approval for the departure of himself and his wife to the United States. In the course of this effort, Oswald and his wife visited the U.S. Embassy in Moscow in July of 1961. Primarily on the basis of an interview and questionnaire completed there, the Embassy concluded that Oswald had not lost his citizenship, a decision subsequently ratified by the Department of State in Washington, D.C. Upon their return to Minsk, Oswald and his wife filed with the Soviet authorities for permission to leave together. Their formal application was made in July 1961, and on December 25, 1961, Marina Oswald was advised it would be granted.

Girl Is Born

A daughter was born to the Oswalds in February 1962. In the months that followed they prepared for their return to the United States. On May 9, 1962, the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, at the request of the Department of State, agreed to waive a restriction under the law which would have prevented the issuance of a United States visa to Oswald's Russian wife until she had left the Soviet Union. They finally left Moscow on June 1, 1962, and were assisted in meeting their travel expenses by a loan of $435.71 from the U.S. Department of State. Two weeks later they arrived in Fort Worth, Tex.

For a few weeks Oswald, his wife and child lived with Oswald's brother Robert. After a similar stay with Oswald's mother, they moved into their own apartment in early August. Oswald obtained a job on July 16 as a sheet metal worker. During this period in Fort Worth, Oswald was interviewed twice by agents of the FBI. The report of the first interview, which occurred on June 26, described him as arrogant and unwilling to discuss the reasons why he had gone to the Soviet Union. Oswald denied that he was involved in Soviet intelligence activities and promised to advise the FBI if Soviet representatives ever communicated with him. He was interviewed again on August 16, when he displayed a less belligerent attitude and once again agreed to inform the FBI of any attempt to enlist him in intelligence activities.

Quit His Job

In early October 1962 Oswald quit his job at the sheet metal plant and moved to Dallas. While living in Fort Worth the Oswalds had been introduced to a group of Russian-speaking people in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Many of them assisted the Oswalds by providing small amounts of food, clothing, and household items. Oswald himself was disliked by almost all of this group whose help to the family was prompted primarily by sympathy for Marina Oswald and the child. Despite the fact that he had left the Soviet Union, disillusioned with its Government, Oswald seemed more firmly committed than ever to his concepts of Marxism. He showed disdain for democracy, capitalism, and American society in general. He was highly critical of the Russian-speaking group because they seemed devoted to American concepts of democracy and capitalism and were ambitious to improve themselves economically.

Meet Ruth Paine

In February 1963 the Oswalds met Ruth Paine at a social gathering. Ruth Paine was temporarily separated from her husband and living with her two children in their home in Irving, Tex., a suburb of Dallas. Because of an interest in the Russian language and sympathy for Marina Oswald, who spoke no English and had little funds, Ruth Paine befriended Marina and, during the next 2 months, visited her on several occasions.

Lost His Job

On April 6, 1963, Oswald lost his job with a photography firm. A few days later, on April 10, he attempted to kill Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker (Resigned, U.S. Army), using a rifle which he had ordered by mail 1 month previously under an assumed name. Marina Oswald learned of her husband's act when she confronted him with a note which he had left, giving her instructions in the event he did not return. That incident and their general economic difficulties impelled Marina Oswald to suggest that her husband leave Dallas and go to New Orleans to look for work.

Oswald left for New Orleans on April 24, 1963. Ruth Paine, who knew nothing of the Walker shooting, invited Marina Oswald and the baby to stay with her in the Paines' modest home while Oswald sought work in New Orleans. Early in May, upon receiving word from Oswald that he had found a job, Ruth Paine drove Marina Oswald and the baby to New Orleans to rejoin Oswald.

Bogus Chapter

During the stay in New Orleans, Oswald formed a fictitious New Orleans Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. He posed as secretary of this organization and represented that the president was A. J. Hidell. In reality, Hidell was a completely fictitious person created by Oswald, the organization's only member. Oswald was arrested on August 9 in connection with a scuffle which occurred while he was distributing pro-Castro leaflets. The next day, while at the police station, he was interviewed by an FBI agent after Oswald requested the police to arrange such an interview. Oswald gave the agent false information about his own background and was evasive in his replies concerning Fair Play for Cuba activities. During the next 2 weeks Oswald appeared on Radio programs twice, claiming to be the spokesman for the Fair Play for Cuba Committee in New Orleans.

Offers Her Home

On July 19, 1963, Oswald lost his job as a greaser of coffee-processing machinery. In September, after an exchange of correspondence with Marina Oswald, Ruth Paine drove to New Orleans and on September 23, transported Marina, the child, and the family belongings to Irving, Tex. Ruth Paine suggested that Marina Oswald, who was expecting her second child in October, live at the Paine house until after the baby was born. Oswald remained presumably behind, to find work either in Houston or some other city. Instead, he departed by bus for Mexico, arriving in Mexico City on September 27, where he promptly visited the Cuban and Russian Embassies. His stated objective was to obtain official permission to visit Cuba, on his way to the Soviet Union. The Cuban Government would not grant his visa unless the Soviet Government would also issue a visa permitting his entry into Russia. Oswald's efforts to secure these visas failed, and he left for Dallas, where he arrived on October 3, 1963.

Rent A Room

When he saw his wife the next day, it was decided that Oswald would rent a room in Dallas and visit his family on weekends. For 1 week he rented a room from Mrs. Bledsoe, the woman who later saw him on the bus shortly after the assassination. On October 14, 1963, he rented the Beckley Avenue room and listed his name as O. H. Lee. On the same day, at the suggestion of a neighbor, Mrs. Paine phoned the Texas School Book Depository and was told that there was a job opening. She informed Oswald who was interviewed the following day at the Depository and started to work there on October 16, 1963.

Second Girl Born

On October 20 the Oswalds' second daughter was born. During October and November Oswald established a general pattern of weekend visits to Irving, arriving on Friday afternoon and returning to Dallas Monday morning with a fellow employee, Buell Wesley Frazier, who lived near the Paines. On Friday, November 15, Oswald remained in Dallas at the suggestion of his wife who told him that the house would be crowded because of a birthday party for Ruth Paine's daughter. On Monday, November 18, Oswald and his wife quarreled bitterly during a telephone conversation, because she learned for the first time that he was living at the rooming house under an assumed name. On Thursday, November 21, Oswald told Frazier that he would like to drive to Irving to pick up some curtain rods for an apartment in Dallas. His wife and Mrs. Paine were quite surprised to see him since it was a Thursday night. They thought he had returned to make up after Monday's quarrel. He was conciliatory, but Marina Oswald was still angry.

Light In Garage

Later that evening, when Mrs. Paine had finished cleaning the kitchen, she went into the garage and noticed that the light was burning. She was certain that she had not left it on, although the incident appeared unimportant at the time. In the garage were most of the Oswalds' personal possessions. The following morning Oswald left while his wife was still in bed feeding the baby. She did not see him leave the house, nor did Ruth Paine. On the dresser in their room he left his wedding ring which he had never done before. His wallet containing $170 was left intact in a dresser-drawer.

Oswald walked to Frazier's house about half a block away and placed a long bulky package, made out of wrapping paper and tape, into the rear seat of the car. He told Frazier that the package contained curtain rods. When they reached the Depository parking lot, Oswald walked quickly police department, more than 100 representatives of the press, radio, and television were crowded into the hallway through which Oswald had to pass when being taken from his cell to Captain Fritz' office for interrogation. Reporters tried to interview Oswald during these trips. Between Friday afternoon and Sunday morning he appeared in the hallway at least 16 times. The generally confused conditions outside and inside Captain Fritz office increased the difficulty of police questioning. Advised by the police that he could communicate with an attorney, Oswald made several telephone calls on Saturday in an effort to procure representation of his own choice and discussed the matter with the president of the local bar association, who offered to obtain counsel. Oswald declined the offer saying that he would first try to obtain counsel by himself. By Sunday morning he had not yet engaged an attorney.

Murder Charge

At 7:10 p.m. on November 22, 1963, Lee Harvey Oswald was formally advised that he had been charged with the murder of Patrolman J. D. Tippit. Several witnesses to the Tippit slaying and to the subsequent flight of the gunman had positively identified Oswald in police lineups. While positive firearm identification evidence was not available at the time, the revolver in Oswald's possession at the time of his arrest was of a type which could have fired the shots that killed Tippit.

Watch JFK On TV

During the morning of November 22, Marina Oswald followed President Kennedy's activities on television. She and Ruth Paine cried when they heard that the President had been shot. Ruth Paine translated the news of the shooting to Marina Oswald as it came over television, including the report that the shots were probably fired from the building where Oswald worked. When Marina Oswald heard this, she recalled the Walker episode and the fact that her husband still owned the rifle. She went quietly to the Paine's garage where the rifle had been concealed in a blanket among their other belongings. It appeared to her that the rifle was still there, although she did not actually open the blanket.

At about 3 p.m., the police arrived at the Paine house and asked Marina Oswald whether her husband owned a rifle. She said that he did and then led them into the garage and pointed to the rolled up blanket. A police officer lifted it, the blanket hung limply over either side of his arm. The rifle was not there.

Quiz Oswald

Meanwhile, at police headquarters, Captain Fritz had begun questioning Oswald. Soon after the start of the first interrogation, agents of the FBI and the U.S. Secret Service arrived and participated in the questioning. Oswald denied having anything to do with the assassination of President Kennedy or the murder of Patrolman Tippit. He claimed that he was eating lunch at the time of the assassination, and that he then spoke with his foreman for 5 to 10 minutes before going home. He denied that he owned a rifle and when confronted, in a subsequent interview, with a picture showing him holding a rifle and pistol, he claimed that his face had been superimposed on someone else's body. He refused to answer any questions about the presence in his wallet of a selective service card with his picture and the name "Alek J. Hidell."

During the questioning of Oswald on the third floor of the

The news media had been informed on Saturday night that the transfer of Oswald would not take place until after 10 a.m. on Sunday. Earlier on Sunday, between 2:30 and 3 a.m., anonymous telephone calls threatening Oswald's life had been received by the Dallas office of the FBI and by the office of the county sheriff. Nevertheless, on Sunday morning, television, radio, and newspaper representatives crowded into the basement to record the transfer. As viewed through television cameras, Oswald would emerge from a door in front of the cameras and proceed to the transfer vehicle. To the right of the cameras was a "down" ramp from Main Street on the north. To the left was an "up" ramp leading to Commerce Street on the south.

Unmarked Car

The armored truck in which Oswald was to be transferred arrived shortly after 11 a.m. Police officials then decided, however, that an unmarked police car would be preferable for the trip because of its greater speed and maneuverability. At approximately 11:20 a.m. Oswald emerged from the basement jail office flanked by detectives on either side and at his rear. He took a few steps toward the car and was in the glaring light of the television cameras when a man suddenly darted out from an area on the right of the cameras where newsmen had been assembled. The man was carrying a Colt .38 revolver in his right hand and, while millions watched on television, he moved quickly to within a few feet of Oswald and fired one shot into Oswald's abdomen. Oswald groaned with pain as he fell to the ground and quickly lost consciousness. Within 7 minutes Oswald was at Parkland Hospital where, without having regained consciousness, he was pronounced dead at 1:07 p.m.

Ruby Is Jailed

The man who killed Oswald was Jack Ruby. He was instantly arrested and, minutes later, confined in a cell on the fifth floor of the Dallas police jail. Under interrogation, he denied that the killing of Oswald was in any way connected with a conspiracy involving the assassination of President Kennedy. He maintained that he had killed Oswald in a temporary fit of depression and rage over the President's death. Ruby was transferred the following day to the county jail without notice to the press or to police officers not directly involved in the transfer. Indicted for the murder of Oswald by the State of Texas on November 26, 1963, Ruby was found guilty on March 14, 1964, and sentenced to death. As of September 1964, his case was pending on appeal.

Conclusions

This Commission was created to ascertain the facts relating to the preceding summary of events and to consider the important questions which they raised. The Commission has addressed itself to this task and has reached certain conclusions based on all the available evidence. No limitations have been placed on the Commission's inquiry; it has conducted its own investigation, and all Government agencies have fully discharged their responsibility to cooperate with the Commission in its investigation. These conclusions represent the reasoned judgment of all members of the Commission and are presented after an investigation which has satisfied the Commission that it has ascertained the truth concerning the assassination of President Kennedy to the extent that a prolonged and thorough search makes this possible.

1. The shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Governor Connally were fired from the sixth floor window at the southeast corner of the Texas School Book Depository. This determination is based upon the following:

Find Bullet

(a) Witnesses at the scene of the assassination saw a rifle being fired from the sixth floor window of the Depository Building, and some witnesses saw a rifle in the window immediately after the shots were fired. (b) The nearly whole bullet found on Governor Connally's stretcher at Parkland Memorial Hospital and the two bullet fragments found in the front seat of the Presidential limousine were fired from the 6.5-millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano rifle found on the sixth floor of the Depository Building to the exclusion of all other weapons. (c) The three used cartridge cases found near the window on the sixth floor of the building were fired from the same rifle which fired the above-described bullet and fragments, to the exclusion of all other weapons. (d) The windshield in the Presidential limousine was struck by a bullet fragment on the inside surface of the glass, but was not penetrated.

Nature Of Wounds

(e) The nature of the bullet wounds suffered by President Kennedy and Governor Connally and the location of the car at the time of the shots establish that the bullets were fired from above and behind the Presidential limousine, striking the President and the Governor as follows: (1) President Kennedy was first struck by a bullet which entered at the back of his neck and exited through the lower front portion of his neck, causing a wound which would not necessarily have been lethal. The President was struck a second time by a bullet which entered the right-rear portion of his head, causing a massive and fatal wound. (2) Governor Connally was struck by a bullet which entered on the right side of his back and traveled downward through the right side of his chest, exiting below his right nipple. This bullet then passed through his left thigh where it caused a superficial wound. (f) There is no credible evidence that the shots were fired from the Triple Underpass, ahead of the motorcade, or from any other location.

3 Shots Fired

2. The weight of the evidence indicates that there were three shots fired. 3. Although it is not necessary to any essential findings of the Commission to determine just which shot hit Governor Connally, there is very persuasive evidence from the experts to indicate that the same bullet which pierced the Presidents' throat also caused Governor Connally's wounds. However, Governor Connally's testimony and certain other factors have given rise to some difference of opinion as to this probability but there is no question in the mind of any member of the Commission that all the shots which caused the Presidents' and Governor Connally's wounds were fired from the sixth floor window of the Texas School Book Depository.

Oswald Fired Shots

4. The shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Governor Connally were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald. This conclusion is based upon the following: (a) The Mannlicher-Carcano 6.5-millimeter Italian rifle from which the shots were fired was owned by and in the possession of Oswald. (b) Oswald carried this rifle into the Depository Building on the morning of November 22, 1963. (c) Oswald, at the time of the assassination, was present at the window from which the shots were fired. (d) Shortly after the assassination, the Mannlicher-Carcano rifle belonging to Oswald was found partially hidden between some cartons on the sixth floor and the improvised paper bag in which Oswald brought the rifle to the Depository was found close by the window from which the shots were fired.

Oswald Had Ability

(e) Based on testimony of the experts and their analysis of films of the assassination, the Commission has concluded that a rifleman of Lee Harvey Oswald's capabilities could have fired the shots from the rifle used in the assassination within the elapsed time of the shooting. The Commission has concluded further that Oswald possessed the capacity with a rifle which enabled him to commit the assassination.

Oswald Lied

(f) Oswald lied to the police after his arrest concerning important substantive matters. (g) Oswald had attempted to kill Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker (Resigned, U.S. Army) on April 10, 1963, thereby demonstrating his disposition to take human life. 5. Oswald killed Dallas Police Patrolman J. D. Tippit approximately 45 minutes after the assassination. This conclusion upholds the finding that Oswald fired the shots which killed President Kennedy and wounded Governor Connally and is supported by the following: (a) Two eyewitnesses saw the Tippit shooting and seven eyewitnesses heard the shots and saw the gunman leave the scene with revolver in hand. These nine eyewitnesses positively identified Lee Harvey Oswald as the man they saw.

Oswald's life. These deficiencies contributed to the death of Lee Harvey Oswald.

No Conspiracy

9. The Commission has found no evidence that either Lee Harvey Oswald or Jack Ruby was part of any conspiracy, domestic or foreign, to assassinate President Kennedy. The reasons for this conclusion are: (a) The Commission has found no evidence that anyone assisted Oswald in planning or carrying out the assassination. In this connection it has thoroughly investigated, among other factors, the circumstances surrounding the planning of the motorcade route through Dallas, the hiring of Oswald by the Texas School Book Depository Co. on October 15, 1963, the method by which the rifle was brought into the building, the placing of cartons of books at the window, Oswald's escape from the building, and the testimony of eyewitnesses to the shooting.

Wide Investigation

(b) The Commission has found no evidence that Oswald was involved with any person or group in a conspiracy to assassinate the President, although it has thoroughly investigated, in addition to other possible leads, all facets of Oswald's associations, finances, and personal habits, particularly during the period following his return from the Soviet Union in June 1962. (c) The Commission has found no evidence to show that Oswald was employed, persuaded, or encouraged by any foreign government to assassinate President Kennedy or that he was an agent of any foreign government, although the Commission has reviewed the circumstances surrounding Oswald's defection to the Soviet Union, his life there from October of 1959 to June of 1962 so far as it can be reconstructed, his known contacts with the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, and his visits to the Cuban and Soviet Embassies in Mexico City during his trip to Mexico from September 26 to October 3, 1963, and his known contacts with the Soviet Embassy in the United States.

Probe All Ties

(d) The Commission has explored all attempts of Oswald to identify himself with various political groups, including the Communist Party, U.S.A., the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, and the Socialist Workers Party, and has been unable to find any evidence that the contacts which he initiated were related to Oswald's subsequent assassination of the President. (e) All of the evidence before the Commission established that there was nothing to support the speculation that Oswald was an agent, employee, or informant of the FBI, the CIA, or any other governmental agency. It has thoroughly investigated Oswald's relationships prior to the assassination with all agencies of the U.S. Government. All contacts with Oswald by any of these agencies were made in the regular exercise of their different responsibilities.

Cartridge Cases

(b) The cartridge cases found at the scene of the shooting were fired from the revolver in the possession of Oswald at the time of his arrest to the exclusion of all other weapons. (c) The revolver in Oswald's possession at the time of his arrest was purchased by and belonged to Oswald. (d) Oswald's jacket was found along the path of flight taken by the gunman as he fled from the scene of the killing. 6. Within 80 minutes of the assassination and 35 minutes of the Tippit killing Oswald resisted arrest at the theatre by attempting to shoot another Dallas police officer.

No Coercion

7. The Commission has reached the following conclusions concerning Oswald's interrogation and detention by the Dallas police: (a) Except for the force required to effect his arrest, Oswald was not subjected to any physical coercion by law enforcement officials. He was advised that he could not be compelled to give any information and that any statements made by him might be used against him in court. He was advised of his right to counsel. He was given the opportunity to obtain counsel of his own choice and was offered legal assistance by the Dallas Bar Association, which he rejected at that time.

No Restrictions

(b) Newspaper, radio, and television reporters were allowed unhindered access to the area through which Oswald had to pass when he was moved from his cell to the interrogation room and other sections of the building, thereby subjecting Oswald to harassment and creating chaotic conditions which were not conducive to orderly interrogation or the protection of the rights of the prisoner. (c) The numerous statements, sometimes erroneous, made to the press by various local law enforcement officials, during this period of confusion and disorder in the police station, would have presented serious obstacles to the obtaining of a fair trial for Oswald to the extent that the information was erroneous or misleading, it helped to create doubts, speculations, and fears in the mind of the public which might otherwise not have arisen.

Ruby Killed Oswald

8. The Commission has reached the following conclusions concerning the killing of Oswald by Jack Ruby on November 24, 1963: (a) Ruby entered the basement of the Dallas Police Department shortly after 11:17 a.m. and killed Lee Harvey Oswald at 11:21 a.m. (b) Although the evidence on Ruby's means of entry is not conclusive, the weight of the evidence indicates that he walked down the ramp lead-that Oswald and Tippit knew each other.

No Other Links

Because of the difficulty of proving negatives to a certainty the possibility of others being involved with either Oswald or Ruby cannot be established categorically, but if there is any such evidence it has been beyond the reach of all the investigative resources of the United States and has not come to the attention of this Commission. 10. In its entire investigation the Commission has found no evidence of conspiracy, subversion, or disloyalty to the U. S. Government by any Federal, State, or local official.

Acted Alone

11. On the basis of the evidence before the Commission it concludes that Oswald acted alone. Therefore, to determine the motives for the assassination of President Kennedy, one must look to the assassin himself. Clues to Oswald's motives can be found in his family history, his education or lack of it, his acts, his writings, and the recollections of those who had close contacts with him throughout his life. The Commission has presented with this report all of the background information bearing on motivation which it could discover. Thus, others may study Lee Oswald's life and arrive at their own conclusions as to his possible motives.

Motives Unknown

The Commission could not make any definitive determination of Oswald's motives. It has endeavored to isolate factors which contributed to his character and which might have influenced his decision to assassinate President Kennedy. These factors were:

- (a) His deep-rooted resentment of all authority which was expressed in a hostility toward every society in which he lived;
- (b) His inability to enter into meaningful relationships with people, and a continuous pattern of rejecting his environment in favor of new surroundings;

Assumed Risk

Each of these contributed to his capacity to risk all in cruel and irresponsible actions.

12. The Commission recognizes that the varied responsibilities of the President require that he make frequent trips to all parts of the United States and abroad. Consistent with their high responsibilities Presidents can never be protected from every potential threat. The Secret Service's difficulty in meeting its protective responsibility varies with the activities and the nature of the occupant of the Office of President and his willingness to conform to plans for his safety. In appraising the performance of the Secret Service it should be understood that it has to do its work within such limitations. Nevertheless, the Commission believes that recommendations for improvements in Presidential protection are compelled by the facts disclosed in this investigation.

S.S. Needs Aid

(a) The complexities of the Presidency have increased so rapidly in recent years that the Secret Service has not been able to develop or to secure adequate resources of personnel and facilities to fulfill its important assignment. This situation should be promptly remedied. (b) The Commission has concluded that the criteria and procedures of the Secret Service designed to identify and protect against persons considered threats to the President, were not adequate prior to the assassination. (1) The Protective Research Section of the Secret Service, which is responsible for its preventive work, lacked sufficient trained personnel and the mechanical and technical assistance needed to fulfill its responsibility.

S.S. Is Scolded

(2) Prior to the assassination the Secret Service's criteria dealt with direct threats against the President. Although the Secret Service treated the direct threat against the President adequately, it failed to recognize the necessity of identifying other potential sources of danger to his security. The Secret Service did not develop adequate and specific criteria defining those persons or groups who might present a danger to the President. In effect, the Secret Service largely relied upon other Federal or State agencies to supply the information necessary for it to fulfill its preventive responsibilities, although it did ask for information about direct threats to the President.

Criticize FBI

(c) The Commission has concluded that there was insufficient liaison and coordination of information between the Secret Service and other Federal agencies necessarily concerned with Presidential protection. Although the FBI, in the normal exercise of its responsibility, had secured considerable information about Lee Harvey Oswald, it had no official responsibility, under the Secret Service criteria existing at the time of the President's trip to Dallas, to refer to the Secret Service the information it had about Oswald. The Commission has concluded, however, that the FBI took an unduly restrictive view of its role in preventive intelligence work prior to the assassination. A more carefully coordinated treatment of the Oswald by the FBI might well have resulted in bringing Oswald's

Recommendations

Prompted by the assassination of President Kennedy, the Secret Service has initiated a comprehensive and critical review of its total operations. As a result of studies conducted during the past several months, and in cooperation with this Commission, the Secret Service has prepared a planning document dated August 27, 1964, which recommends various programs considered necessary by the Service to improve its techniques and enlarge its resources. The Commission is encouraged by the efforts taken by the Secret Service since the assassination and suggests the following recommendations.

Review Activities

1. A committee of Cabinet members including the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General, or the National Security Council, should be assigned the responsibility of reviewing and overseeing the protective activities of the Secret Service and the other Federal agencies that assist in safeguarding the President. Once given this responsibility, such a committee would insure that the maximum resources of the Federal government are fully engaged in the task of protecting the President, and would provide guidance in defining the general nature of domestic and foreign dangers to Presidential security.

Change Protection

2. Suggestions have been advanced to the Commission for the transfer of all or parts of the Presidential protective responsibilities of the Secret Service to some other department or agency. The Commission believes that if there is to be any determination of whether or not to relocate these responsibilities and functions, it ought to be made by the Executive and the Congress, perhaps upon recommendations based on studies by the previously suggested committee. 3. Meanwhile, in order to improve daily supervision of the Secret Service within the Department of the Treasury, the Commission recommends that the Secretary of the Treasury appoint a special assistant with the responsibility of supervising the Secret Service. This special assistant should have sufficient stature and experience in law enforcement, intelligence, and allied fields to provide effective continuing supervision, and to keep the Secretary fully informed regarding the performance of the Secret Service. On the initial assignments of this special assistant should be the supervision of the current efforts by the Secret Service to revise and modernize its basic operating procedures.

Change Plans

4. The Commission recommends that the Secret Service completely overhaul its facilities devoted to the advance detection of potential threats against the President. The Commission suggests the following measures:

- (a) The Secret Service should develop as quickly as possible more useful and precise criteria defining those potential threats to the President which should be brought to its attention by other agencies. The criteria should, among other additions, provide for prompt notice to the Secret Service of all returned defectors. (b) The Secret Service should expedite its current plans to utilize the most efficient data-processing techniques.

Compile Data

(c) Once the Secret Service has formulated new criteria delineating the information it desires, it should enter into agreements with each Federal agency to insure its receipt of such information.

5. The Commission recommends that the Secret Service improve the protective measures followed in the planning, and conducting of Presidential motorcades. In particular, the Secret Service should continue its current efforts to increase the precautionary attention given to buildings along the motorcade route.

Local Police Ties

6. The Commission recommends that the Secret Service continue its recent efforts to improve and formalize its relationships with local police departments in areas to be visited by the President.

7. The Commission believes that when the new criteria and procedures are established, the Secret Service will not have sufficient personnel or adequate facilities. The Commission recommends that the Secret Service be provided with the personnel and resources which the Service and the Department of the Treasury may be able to demonstrate are needed to fulfill its important mission.

Other Agencies

8. Even with an increase in Secret Service personnel, the protection of the President will continue to require the resources and cooperation of many Federal agencies. The Commission recommends that these agencies, specifically the FBI, continue the practice as it has developed, particularly since the assassination, of assisting the Secret Service upon request by providing personnel or other aid, and that there be a closer association and liaison between the Secret Service and all Federal agencies.

9. The Commission recommends that the President's physician always accompany him during his travels and occupy a position near the President where he can be immediately available in case of any emergency.

Federal Crime

10. The Commission recommends to Congress that it adopt legislation which would make the assassination of the President and Vice President a Federal crime. A state of affairs where U. S. authorities have no clearly defined jurisdiction to investigate the assassination of a President is anomalous.

11. The Commission has examined the Department of State's handling of the Oswald matters and finds that it followed the law throughout. However, the Commission believes that the Department in accordance with its own regulations should in all cases exercise great care in the return to this country of defectors who have evidenced disloyalty or hostility to this country or who have expressed a desire to renounce their American citizenship and that when such persons are so returned, procedures should be adopted for the better dissemination of information concerning them to the intelligence agencies of the Government.

Ethical Standards

12. The Commission recommends that the representatives of the bar, law enforcement associations, and the news media work together to establish ethical standards concerning the collection and presentation of information to the public so that there will be no interference with pending criminal investigations, court proceedings, or the right of individuals to a fair trial.

No Ruby Ties

(f) No direct or indirect relationship between Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby has been discovered by the Commission, nor has it been able to find any credible evidence that either knew the other, although a thorough investigation was made of the many rumors and speculations of such a relationship. (g) The Commission has found no evidence that Jack Ruby acted with any other person in the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald. (h) After careful investigation the Commission has found no credible evidence either that Ruby and Officer Tippit, who was killed by Oswald, knew each other or

FIREMEN WANT TIGHTER TNT TRAFFIC LAWS

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Firemen's Association is on record in favor of more stringent regulations on the transporting of explosives.

The resolution was adopted here Friday at the group's 85th annual convention. It called attention to the three volunteer firemen killed and two others injured when a truckload of explosives blew up at Marshalls Creek, Monroe County, June 26.

In other action, Fire Chief Donald E. Hutchinson, of Greensburg received the association's "A" award as "Fireman of the Year."

A "B" award for contributing to the benefit and welfare of fire service in an outstanding manner was voted for Kenneth Bakewell, reporter-photographer for the Lewistown Sentinel.

Harry Armstrong of Taylor, Lackawanna County, was elected president of the association succeeding Teofil F. Hereda of New Kensington.

Other new officers: Harry Armstrong of Taylor, Lackawanna County, was elected president of the association succeeding Teofil F. Hereda of New Kensington.

Other new officers: Lt. Walter F. Cummings, Philadelphia, eastern vice president; James H. Caldwell, Derry, Westmoreland County, western vice president; Jacob W. Wineman, Greensburg, senior vice president, and the Rev. E. H. Cristianson, Lebanon, chaplain.

Arthur C. Potter of Lewistown, secretary, and John H. Zimmerman Jr., Lebanon, treasurer, were re-elected.

A Lovelier You

NECK IN A WRINGER. In an effort to mask throat problems, women resort to the cover-up of a bulky scarf or choker. But the disguise often looks worse than the ailment. To get away with it, you must have a very slim face. Otherwise there's a squeeze play on the face, as though the neck were caught in a wringer.

For a lined, crepey or sallow condition, the obviously better out is corrective treatment. Particularly now, when low necklines and neck-framing hair-styles make necks for wear after dusk.

The first step to improvement is a daily cleansing with mild complexion soap or neutral wash.

Selection Night Is Big Occasion At Kilgore, Tex.

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — It was sultry September. There was no air conditioning in the Kilgore College gym and it was selection night for the Kilgore Rangerettes.

Kilgore is a little city in the east Texas piney woods. It is famous for two things — the Rangerettes and downtown oil derricks. Structurally, a Rangerette is much more interesting than a derrick.

The Rangerettes have performed at Rose Bowl, Cotton Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Memorial Bowl and Senior Bowl football games, at the All-Star Football Game in Chicago, at major league baseball games, in the Philadelphia Spring Music Festival, at the National Music Convention, and in the 1953 presidential inauguration parade — among other places.

153 SOUGHT PLACES

So it was a big night in Kilgore when the ranks of the 1964-65 Rangerettes were filled and the officers chosen.

The sophomore Rangerettes — Kilgore is a junior college — chose 23 new Rangerettes and 12 alternates from among 80 freshman contestants, the survivors of 153 who started two weeks of preliminary training.

Gussie Nell Davis, the energetic 101-pound blonde who started the Rangerettes in 1940, quieted everybody with orders over a loudspeaker.

LEARNED TO WALK

One by one, freshmen in their best dresses and high heels paraded the length of the gym floor, stopping in center court to present themselves to the audience.

They didn't march. They just walked. Everybody agreed Gussie Nell had really taught them how to walk.

The freshmen came mostly from Texas — but also from Oklahoma, Colorado, Virginia, South Carolina, Illinois, Florida and Connecticut.

ATTRACTS GIRL

Often girls enroll at Kilgore just because of the Rangerettes. And among those who fail to pass the stern scrutiny of the sophomores, there are always some who pack and go away to another college.

Those who pass and become Rangerettes begin a program of daily drills and strict discipline. A Rangerette is never permitted to miss a class unless she's sick in bed.

"And I never allow my girls to go to a party where liquor is served," said Gussie Nell.

TRAINING STICKS

"Being a Rangerette is drilled into you, and you never get over it," said Mrs. John T. Crim, Kilgore. As Jamie Love of Longview back in 1946, she was a Rangerette captain.

After each freshman had taken her walk through the gym, the girls changed to Rangerette practice suits — white short-skirts, white blouses, white tennis shoes. They performed the dancing and marching routines they had learned in just two weeks, the routines the Rangerettes will do later in red blouses, brief blue skirts and white cowboy hats and boots.

SQUEALS AND TEARS

And now — who had passed the test? Who were the new Rangerettes?

The freshmen marched — were their smiles a little strained now? — out to the corridor where the sophomores had completed their judging and posted the names of the winners.

Shrieks of joy! Cries of lamentation! Winner clutched winner with squeals and tears.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Charles D. Chase, who performed as an acrobat and circus clown for 63 of his 78 years, died Friday. Chase at one time was billed as the world's greatest tumbler. He retired in 1956.

CRITIC SCORES MOST OF NEW CBS OFFERINGS

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System introduced six new entertainment programs over the weekend — four of them a content and quality that made this viewer wonder what executives who chose programs really think of the taste and intelligence of the adult audience.

Then, at the 11th hour, the CBS news department galloped in with a truly stunning exhibition of broadcast journalistic enterprise. It was a meticulous and utterly fascinating two-hour reconstruction of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and its aftermath in Dallas, keyed to the release of the Warren Commission's report Sunday evening.

Friday night CBS presented "The Entertainers," a new variety hour in which talented Carol Burnett and Bob Newhart were permitted to belabor and drag out their slight comedy sketches and the musical abilities of Caterina Valente were explored scarcely at all. The show was generally a bore.

A HAPPIER TIME

Then came, a happier time with "Gomer Pyle — USMC," starring Jim Nabors, another of those comedy serials about the naive hillbilly whose very innocence confuses the sophisticates. Artfully produced with some sure-fire comedy situations, it is a most amusing half hour.

"The Reporter," the last of CBS' new Friday night shows, is an ambitious hour-long dramatic series built around newspapermen of a type found only in old B movies and television series. Saturday night brought "Gilligan's Island," a slapstick comedy which may possibly win some sort of notice as the saddest effort in a season when comedy reigns the channels. "Mr. Broadway," which followed, promised to be one of the network's major new comedy-adventure offerings. It turned out to be a run-of-the-mine adventure yarn and a big disappointment.

Sole new entry Sunday night was "My Living Doll," which in its opening installment gave promise of becoming a lightly amusing trifle.

The idea is that a scientist has created a robot in the shape of a beautiful woman to be used in space exploration. Rhoda the robot is placed in the custody of a psychiatrist played by Robert Cummings. Julie Newmar plays Rhoda with perfect mechanical coordination.

CASPER EDGES RIVAL TO WIN

SEATTLE (AP) — The increasingly affluent Billy Casper started a couple weeks' vacation today after adding $5,800 to his bank account in a little deal consummated on the golf course Sunday when he won the $40,000 Greater Seattle Open Tournament.

Mr. Casper, who usually earns $10.65 each time he swings a golf club, exceeded his norm when he took only 265 swings to beat par by 15 strokes in the four-day tourney. One of those swings was wasted. The 33-year-old Casper beat Mason Rudolph by two strokes in posting the lowest 72-hole score of the year in tournament golf.

Rudolph even scored a hole in one in his futile drive to overtake Casper as both played the final round in six-under-par 64s.

TWO STROKES EDGE

But Casper had started the day with a two stroke edge on the 30-year old Tennessee, although he himself was three strokes off the pace. Al Geiberger and Fred Marti were the third-round leaders with a pair of 199s, but Marti skied to a 72 and Geiberger dropped to third place with a finishing 69.

Chuck Congdon, 54, who had romped into the spotlight when he tied the course record with a third-round 62, opened his Sunday bid by dropping an 80-foot chip shot for an eagle three. But Congdon wandered in the trees, took a 68 and tied with Dudley Wysong for third place at 269. Wysong had a Sunday 69.

This was Casper's 24th tournament title as a pro and his third this year, pushing his tournament earnings for 1964 to more than $79,000.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Although the total number of jobs in the Philadelphia metropolitan area declined in July and August, unemployment in that period was also down, according to the State Employment Service. The number of unemployed was down to 103,800 or 5.6 percent of the area's work force. The number of jobs available, however, also fell by 800. The decreasing number of jobs was attributed to a decline in farm production because of the current drought.

PSU AND PITT LOSE AS WEST CHESTER FAILS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East Stroudsburg did it again. The only state college conference team to defeat West Chester in football in the past five years, East Stroudsburg upset the conference kingpins 13-0 last Friday night. It was the highlight of the third college football weekend.

The last time West Chester lost a state conference game was Sept. 29, 1962, that to East Stroudsburg, 7-6. Associated Press scoring records, which go back to 1959, show Friday night's shutout was the first against West Chester in at least five seasons.

Barry Roach, a 171-pound half back from Kingston, Pa., scored both touchdowns for East Stroudsburg on runs of 69 and 81 yards. The winners piled up 299 yards on the ground, holding West Chester to 82.

OTHER RESULTS

Elsewhere in the State College Conference:

Mansfield drove 94 yards in 11 plays for the TD that carried them to a 19-7 victory over Bloomsburg; Edinboro and Slippery Rock traded field goals in the first half and wound up just that way—a 3-3 tie; Shippensburg picked up 300 yards in a fine offensive display while trouncing Shephard 23-6.

Kutztown pulled its second upset in as many weeks with an 8-0 victory over Millersville; California scored three TDs in the first quarter then held on for a 27-18 win over California; quarterback Mickey Watson completed 12 of 15 passes for 125 yards and one TD in Indiana's 27-13 victory over Geneva; Clarion walloped Grove City 36-6 with quarterback Mike Zaccari scoring two TDs and booting a field goal and three conversions; Cheyney lost to Howard, 13-0.

PSU FUMBLED TO LOSS

The state's big four split. Penn., showing signs of continuing its policy of no offense, edged Lehigh 13-6, helped by a 96-yard TD return of the open-gate Connell accounting for two TDs, setting up a third with an interception and making a score-saving tackle, piloted Villanova to a 32-0 win over Holy Cross. Penn State fumbled away a hard-fought game to UCLA, 21-14, while Pitt did the same thing in losing to Oregon 22-13.

There were some surprises in the Middle Atlantic Conference. Gettysburg edged perennial contender Bucknell, 12-7 on two short TD passes, and Dickinson, with the help of a 34-yard field goal by Larry Snyder, tripped Muhlenberg 23-14.

Other MAC games wound up about as expected.

10TH FOR SUSQUEHANNA

Lafayette lost to Brown 20-3 in a series renewed after a lapse of 22 years. Susquehanna rolled to its 10th straight win, 34th in its last 37 games, with a 36-19 triumph over Marietta. Defending champion Delaware walloped conference newcomer, Hofstra, 36-7. Temple showed the signs of strength expected with an easy 34-9 win over Kings Point. Albright, Lebanon Valley, Drexel and Moravian all won.

Western section teams had a fine weekend, with the exception of W. & J. which lost, 30-0 to John Carroll, and Carnegie Tech, a 27-0 victim of Wooster. Thiel beat Case 20-6 as fullback

STATE OFFERS MORE TRAINING IN VOCATIONS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The commonwealth, with the aid of the federal government, plans to offer five new vocational training courses in Philadelphia, McKeesport, New Castle, Sayre and York.

They will bring to 288 the number of courses being offered in the state school system under the federal manpower development and training act, it was announced Friday.

The Philadelphia project, designed to train 160 persons for jobs in the "secretary" classification, is a special program. It complements a research project in dialect remediation being conducted by Temple University under the auspices of the Office of Manpower Automation and Training. Included in the $190,456 project cost is $124,480 in trainee allowances.

OFFICE MACHINE SCHOOL

The McKeesport school district will conduct a 30-hour-a-week, 39-week course to train 25 persons in the "office machine serviceman" classification. The allotment is $56,228, including $40,850 for trainee allowances.

The New Castle school district will train 18 persons for jobs in the "machine operator, general" classification. These trainees will attend sessions 30 hours a week for 27 weeks. The project cost of $36,997 includes $20,898 in trainee allowances.

Sayre's program will train 16 persons for jobs in the "surgical technician" classification. Included in the $53,864 project cost is $39,644 in trainee allowances.

York City school district will give a 40-hour-a-week, 52-week course designed to train 15 persons for jobs in the "automobile mechanic" classification. Included in the $55,210 project cost is $33,540 in trainee allowances.

LEAVES $555,779 TO UNCLE SAM

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh woman has willed the U. S. Government $555,779 "as a token of appreciation" for her parents.

This was disclosed when a decree of distribution was signed Friday in Allegheny County Court for the $723,976 estate of Mrs. Jennie Roessing of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Roessing, who had been president of the Pennsylvania Woman's Suffrage Association and first vice president of the national movement, died May 15, 1963.

Other bequests went to various organizations including a church and a humane society. She inherited much of her estate from her father, a seller of imported wool.

She also directed in her will that her ashes and the ashes of her deceased parents be scattered over the Atlantic Ocean.

Lightning Kills Woman On Beach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Heat, smog and thunderstorms hit Southern California Thursday. A lightning bolt killed a woman gathering shells at Newport Beach.

The mercury reached 91 at the Civic Center, 96 at Ontario and 95 at Burbank.

Lightning bolts downed power wires and started brush fires.

Six brush fires were reported in Orange and San Diego Counties but all were extinguished quickly.

Arabs Defy Israel On River Diversion

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Four Arab nations have ordered work begun on a $200-million program to divert the Jordan River's tributaries despite threats by neighboring Israel to fight.

A board representing the United Arab Republic, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon ordered contractors to launch the project, which is designed to counter Israel's tapping of the river waters. The announcement did not specify the extent of the work to be started.

There are 14,000 Roman Catholic schools in France.

DRUG PEDDLER GETS 63 YEARS

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A judge has sentenced Bernard Napoli, 21, to serve a minimum of 63 years in prison for peddling narcotics, mostly to high school pupils.

Acting Justice Aaron F. Goldstein of State Supreme Court said as he imposed the sentence Friday: "My only regret is that the State Legislature has so far failed to prescribe the death penalty for this dastardly crime, which is worse than murder."

Police said Napoli had moved from Brooklyn to Farmingdale, N.Y., to build up a narcotics trade in the New York City suburbs on Long Island.

Goldstein said Napoli had made at least 10 teen-agers his victims by "personally injecting them so they would become addicted to heroin." He sentenced Napoli to 7 to 15 years on nine counts, the sentences to run consecutively.

RUSSIA TURNS RADIO ATTACK AGAINST CHINA

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union apparently has decided to slack off in its radio offensive toward the West and step it up toward underdeveloped areas and Red China.

And in defensive radio warfare, the Soviet bloc has virtually quit jamming Voice of America broadcasts while putting interference on signals coming from Radio Peking.

U.S. monitors gave some statistics today on how the Communist radio propaganda operations have changed with the shifts in the international political scene:

EASES TENSIONS

Soviet short wave propaganda to North America dropped 10 per cent and to West Europe 16 per cent during the summer broadcasting season.

This was interpreted as a sign of easing East-West tensions, plus the great growth of television in the western nations which has taken many people away from their radio sets.

The reduction in transmissions aimed at the advanced Western countries was matched by increases to Asia, Africa and Latin America. Radio Moscow added six languages: Malayalam (an Indian tongue), Lingala for the Congo, Zulu for South Africa, Thai and Cambodian for Southeast Asia and Uighur, transmitted through Radio Tashkent for the western Chinese province of Sinkiang.

PEKING ACTIVE

Radio Peking started off the year with an increase in its Russian-language broadcasts aimed at its Communist rival which outpaced Soviet broadcasts in Chinese.

The Soviet Bloc jamming of Russian-language broadcasts by the Voice of America, the U.S. government's overseas radio, began to taper off more than a year ago. Now only Bulgaria sends out electronic interference against the U.S. programs.

Ikeda To Undergo Non-Cancer Care

TOKYO (AP) — Doctors reported Saturday that Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda does not have throat cancer. But they said he requires three to four weeks of special radiation treatment to reduce a benign tumor in his throat.

Without such treatment, throat specialists at the National Cancer Center said, Ikeda's condition might develop into cancer.

Ikeda, 64, entered the cancer hospital Sept. 9.

Fireman Turns In 17 False Alarms

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Thomas C. Newswanger, 21, a volunteer fireman with the Southern Manheim Township Company, has been placed on two years probation for turning in 17 false alarms over a two-year period.

Newswanger must pay the expenses incurred by the four county fire companies who responded to his calls, under the decision made Friday by Lancaster County Judge Joseph B. Wissler.

Soldier Honored For Refugee Aid

BERLIN (AP) — An American soldier who braved Communist bullets to help a refugee escape through the Berlin Wall received the Army Commendation Medal Friday and was recommended for the highest military peacetime award for valor, the Soldiers Medal.

He is Spec. 4 Hans W. Puhl, 22, a military policeman who immigrated to the United States from Germany in 1956. Three companions were decorated.

Decorated with the same medal were Spec. 4 William E. Swartwood, Irving, Tex.; Spec. 4 Robert A. Philage Jr., Madera, Pa., and Pvt. Owen L. Hoffman, Rolling Fork, Miss. Sgt. John S. Schultzberger, Port Matilda, Pa., was given a certificate of achievement.

Bahamas To End Havana Air Trip

LONDON (AP) — The Bahamas government says it will halt a new air service from Havana to Nassau despite Britain's refusal to tear up the 1948 agreement that authorized Cuba to fly the route.

The conflicting views were set forth in a joint statement Thursday night after two days of talks between British officials and Bahamian ministers who flew here after Cubana Airlines began the once-a-week service last Monday.

The Bahamas government warned then that any passengers arriving from Cuba would not be allowed to disembark and would be deported. The Cubans said they would only carry diplomats, Britons and Canadians.

Pregnancy Rate Up In Soviet Schools

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's deputy prosecutor blames parents and teachers for a rise in pregnancies among unmarried Soviet schoolgirls.

"Unfortunately, such cases happen all too frequently," said V. Baskov, writing in the government newspaper Izvestia. He suggested more and better sex education and stiffer, nationwide penalties for sex crimes involving minors.

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — The U.S. physician who developed the artificial kidney predicts an artificial heart may soon be available for humans.

Dr. Willem J. Kolff of Cleveland, Ohio, told the European Dialysis and Transport Association Friday that hearts of animals had been replaced in experiments by small mechanical pumps.

MAN IS SLAIN AFTER HOLDUP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia policeman fired at a fleeing bandit Friday night and a little later a man's body was found in a nearby intersection.

Police said patrolmen John Dillon and Michael Chitwood were driving in their patrol car when they saw three men robbing George Lenonis, 59.

The policemen jumped from the car and the bandits fled. The patrolmen chased them. Dillon said he called to one of them to halt, fired a warning shot and then fired another shot at the fleeing man.

The man kept running, said Dillon, and disappeared. A little later a young girl approached the patrolman and said a man was lying in a nearby intersection.

The man was found lying face down, shot in the back. He was identified as Leon McLeod when he was taken to Temple Hospital where he was pronounced dead. His age was given as both 17 and 19.

Lenonis, who had been out for a walk when the bandits struck, said the policemen arrived before anything valuable was taken.

AYR, Scotland (AP) — Tenor Robert Wilson, concert singer in Scotland, died Thursday at the age of 57. In recent years he sponsored Scottish tours to the United States.

The Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge is a 228-square-mile watery wilderness south-west of Palm Beach.
